Training Systems Assessment

How effective is your training system?

Many companies approach training as a one-and-done proposition that occurs at the end of an implementation. But training is not the key to success. A training system is. High Performing Organizations (HPOs) prioritize the right training for the right people at the right time to ensure their teams are not just embracing the software, but also the "Why" behind it.

Go Beyond Adoption

After go-live, the Alithya Training Systems Assessment helps you determine whether you've been delivering training at the right level, and analyze the training techniques and systems you're using. We will provide recommendations to help your team move beyond adoption and into the world of high productivity. The Assessment includes:

•   Leadership and end-user survey
•   Review of LMS and modules
•   Analysis of user access to Dynamics 365
•   Recommendations based on data to improve training

As a result of the training systems assessment, we may recommend:
•   Long-term training planning
•   Content planning and creation
•   Training readiness

Benefits

Increase adoption.
If you're struggling with adoption, your training system – or lack thereof – may be contributing. Step back and identify gaps to improve the effectiveness of your training for greater adoption of your solution organization-wide.

Take it to the next level.
The big opportunity with a Training Systems Assessment comes with determining how best to move your team from adoption ("Here are 7 things I need to do.") to productivity (understanding that the system makes their lives better).

Realign your team.
The Assessment brings leadership together to understand the progress the company has actually made, and best practices in training to get them the rest of the way.
