CAUTIONARY NOTE REGARDING FORWARD LOOKING STATEMENTS

This Annual Report contains or incorporates by reference statements that may constitute “forward-looking information” within the meaning of applicable Canadian securities laws and “forward-looking statements” within the meaning of the U.S. Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 and other applicable U.S. safe harbours (collectively “forward-looking statements”). Statements that do not exclusively relate to historical facts, as well as statements relating to management’s expectations regarding the future growth, results of operations, performance and business prospects of the Company, and other information related to the Company’s business strategy and future plans or which refer to the characterizations of future events or circumstances represent forward-looking statements. Such statements often contain the words “anticipates,” “expects,” “intends,” “plans,” “predicts,” “believes,” “seeks,” “estimates,” “could,” “would,” “will,” “may,” “can,” “continue,” “potential,” “should,” “project,” “target,” and similar expressions and variations thereof, although not all forward-looking statements contain these identifying words.

Forward-looking statements are presented for the sole purpose of assisting investors and others in understanding the Company’s objectives, strategies and business outlook as well as its anticipated operating environment and may not be appropriate for other purposes. Although management believes the expectations reflected in the Company’s forward-looking statements were reasonable as at the date they were made, forward-looking statements are based on the opinions, assumptions and estimates of management and, as such, are subject to a variety of risks and uncertainties and other factors, many of which are beyond the Company’s control, and which could cause actual events or results to differ materially from those expressed or implied in such statements. Such risks and uncertainties include but are not limited to those discussed in the section titled “Risk and Uncertainties” of our Management’s Discussion and Analysis for the fiscal years ended March 31, 2025 and March 31, 2024, included in and incorporated into this Annual Report as Exhibit 99.3, and in the Company’s other materials made public, including documents filed with Canadian and U.S. securities regulatory authorities from time to time and which are available on SEDAR+ at www.sedarplus.ca and EDGAR at www.sec.gov. Additional risks and uncertainties not currently known to the Company or that the Company currently deems to be immaterial could also have a material adverse effect on its financial position, financial performance, cash flows, business or reputation.

Forward-looking statements contained or incorporated by reference in this Annual Report are qualified by these cautionary statements. Forward-looking statements contained herein are made only as of the date of this Annual Report and those contained in other documents incorporated by reference are made only as of the date of such other documents. The Company expressly disclaims any obligation to update or alter forward-looking statements, or the factors or assumptions underlying them, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise, except as required by applicable law. Investors are cautioned not to place undue reliance on forward-looking statements since actual results may vary materially from them.

DIFFERENCES IN UNITED STATES AND CANADIAN REPORTING PRACTICES

The Registrant is permitted, under the multijurisdictional disclosure system adopted by the United States, to prepare this Annual Report mainly in accordance with Canadian disclosure requirements, which are different from those of the United States. The Registrant also prepares its consolidated financial statements in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (“IFRS”) as issued by the International Accounting Standards Board. IFRS differ in some significant respects from United States generally accepted accounting principles (“U.S. GAAP”) and thus the Registrant’s financial statements may not be comparable to financial statements of United States companies. In addition, differences may arise in subsequent periods related to changes in IFRS or U.S. GAAP or due to new transactions that the Registrant enters into. The Registrant is not required to prepare a reconciliation of its consolidated financial statements and related footnote disclosures between IFRS and U.S. GAAP and has not quantified such differences.

CAPITAL STRUCTURE

Description of Securities

The authorized share capital of the Company consists of (i) an unlimited number of subordinate voting shares, without par value, which are listed under the symbol ALYA on the TSX, (ii) an unlimited number of multiple voting shares, without par value, which are held by a limited number of holders, except that no further multiple voting shares can be issued, except pursuant to the exercise of options to purchase multiple voting shares that were issued and outstanding as at November 1, 2018, and (iii) an unlimited number of preferred shares, without par value, issuable in series. On January 1, 2025, in connection with an internal reorganization, the Company amended its articles to create two series of preferred shares, each consisting of an unlimited number of shares: the Series A preferred shares and the Series B preferred shares. As at March 31, 2025, 92,030,852 subordinate voting shares, 7,274,248 multiple voting shares and no preferred shares were issued and outstanding.

The following summary of the material features of the Company's authorized share capital is given subject to the detailed provisions of its articles.

Voting Rights

Each subordinate voting share entitles its holder to one vote per share, and each multiple voting share entitles its holder to ten votes per share at any meeting of shareholders, other than meetings at which only the holders of a particular class or series of shares are entitled to vote due to statutory provisions or the specific attributes of this class or series. If and when issued, preferred shares will have such voting rights as may be determined by the Board at the time of issuance thereof. Subject to the provisions of the QBCA or as otherwise provided in the Company's articles, the Series A preferred shares and Series B preferred shares are not entitled to receive notice of, nor to attend or vote at, meetings of the shareholders of the Company.

The subordinate voting shares are "restricted securities" within the meaning of such term under applicable Canadian securities laws in that they do not carry equal voting rights with the multiple voting shares. In the aggregate, all of the voting rights associated with the subordinate voting shares represented, as at March 31, 2025, 55.85% of the voting rights attached to all of the issued and outstanding shares.

Rights to Dividends and Rights upon Winding-up and Dissolution

Subject to the prior rights of holders of preferred shares which rank prior to subordinate voting shares and multiple voting shares, if and when issued, holders of subordinate voting shares and multiple voting shares are entitled to receive pari passu any dividends and the remainder of the Company's property in the event of a voluntary or involuntary winding up or dissolution, or any other distribution of assets among shareholders for the purposes of winding up the Company's affairs.

The holders of Series A preferred shares and Series B preferred shares are entitled to receive, as and when declared by the Board, in preference and priority to any payment of distributions on the subordinate voting shares and the multiple voting shares and over any other shares of any other class ranking junior to the Series A preferred shares and Series B preferred shares, pari passu with the holders of each series of preferred shares, non-cumulative preferential dividends.

In the event of a voluntary or involuntary liquidation, dissolution or winding up of the Corporation or any other distribution of assets among shareholders for the purposes of winding up the Company's affairs, the holders of Series A preferred shares and Series B preferred shares are entitled to receive for each Series A or Series B preferred share, as applicable, in preference and priority to any distribution of the property of the Company to the holders of subordinate voting shares and multiple voting shares or to any other shares of any other class ranking junior to the Series A or Series B preferred shares, as applicable, but pari passu with the holders of each series of preferred shares, an amount equal to the Series A or Series B Preferred Redemption Price (as defined in Section C paragraph 6.1 of the Company's articles) plus all declared and unpaid dividends thereon, but shall not be entitled to share any further in the distribution of the property of the Company.

Conversion Rights

Multiple voting shares are, at the holder's entire discretion, convertible into subordinate voting shares on a share for share basis and shall be automatically converted upon their transfer to a person who is not a Permitted Holder (as defined below) or upon the death of a Permitted Holder, unless acquired by any of the remaining Permitted Holders in accordance with the terms of the voting agreement dated November 1, 2018 entered into between the Permitted Holders (the "Voting Agreement"), a copy of which is available on SEDAR+ at www.sedarplus.ca and on EDGAR at www.sec.gov. The multiple voting shares are not convertible into any other class of shares. Under applicable Canadian laws, an offer to purchase multiple voting shares would not necessarily require that an offer be made to purchase subordinate voting shares. However, as indicated above, multiple voting shares shall be automatically converted into subordinate voting shares on a share for share basis upon their transfer to a person who is not a Permitted Holder.

If and when issued, preferred shares will have such conversion rights as may be determined by the Board at the time of issuance thereof. The Series A and Series B preferred shares are not convertible into, or exchangeable for, any other class of shares of the Company.

For purposes of the above and below paragraphs, a "Permitted Holder" means each of Paul Raymond, Ghyslaine Rivard, and Pierre Turcotte, and the entities over which they have control.

Restrictions on Transfer

Subject to the terms of the Voting Agreement, Permitted Holders cannot sell or otherwise transfer multiple voting shares to a person who is not a Permitted Holder, unless they first convert those shares into subordinate voting shares on a share for share basis, and then transfer such subordinate voting shares.

Securities Subject to Contractual Restrictions on Transfer

On December 1, 2024, the Company issued 3,449,103 subordinate voting shares as part of the XRM Acquisition, of which a portion is subject to a contractual degressive clawback. The table below outlines the number of securities that are subject to a contractual restriction and the percentage that number represents of the outstanding securities of that class for the Company's most recently completed financial year:

subordinate voting shares	1,724,553	1.87

<sup>(1)</sup> One sixth of the securities that are subject to the contractual restriction on transfer are scheduled to be released on each of December 1, 2025, 2026 and 2027, provided, however, that the shareholders entitled to the release are still employed by, or rendering services to, the Company on such dates. If a shareholder ceases to do so, subordinate voting shares that remain subject to restrictions at such time shall be surrendered for cancellation for no consideration or forfeited to the Company.

DIVIDENDS

The Company does not currently expect to pay dividends in the foreseeable future. The Company anticipates that it will retain all earnings, if any, to support its operations. Any future determination as to the payment of dividends will, subject to Canadian legal requirements and the Company's articles, be at the sole discretion of the Board and will depend on the Company's financial condition, results of operations, capital requirements and other factors the Board deems relevant. Currently, the provisions of the Company's Credit Facility place certain limitations on the amount of dividends that the Company could pay.

Pre-approval Policy and Procedures

The Audit Committee has adopted a policy and procedures for the pre-approval of engagement for services of its external auditor, which list prohibited services that the external auditor may not provide and require pre-approval of all audit and non-audit services provided by the external auditor.

For all permitted services, a request for pre-approval must be submitted to the Audit Committee through the Chief Financial Officer prior to engaging the external auditor to perform the services. The Audit Committee considers such requests, if applicable, on a quarterly basis, and, if acceptable, pre-approves such audit and non-audit services. During its deliberations, the Audit Committee assesses, among other factors, whether the services requested are prohibited and whether they, and the fees related thereto, could impair the independence of the Company's external auditor.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, in the interest of efficiency:

- The Audit Committee has delegated to the Chair of the Audit Committee the authority to pre-approve services from time to time. The Chair must, however, present all pre-approved non-audit services to the Audit Committee at the next regularly scheduled meeting.
- Certain permitted services are pre-approved with an envelope by the Audit Committee and thereafter only require approval by the Chief Financial Officer prior to the engagement. For services not covered by the pre-approved envelopes and costs in excess of the pre-approved amounts, separate requests for pre-approval must be submitted to the Audit Committee.
- At each meeting of the Audit Committee, a consolidated summary of all fees by service type is presented including a breakdown of fees incurred within each of the pre-approved envelopes.

The Board also approves, on an annual basis, on the recommendation of the Audit Committee, the proposed fees to be charged to the Company by the external auditor for the next audit.

PROCEDURES

5. Composition – The Committee shall be comprised of at least three members. None of the members of the Committee shall be an officer or employee of the Company or any of its subsidiaries and each member of the Committee shall be an independent director within the meaning of applicable Canadian securities laws.

All members of the Committee must be able to read and understand fundamental financial statements, including the Company's balance sheet, income statement, and cash flow statement and be "financially literate" (as that term is defined from time to time under the requirements or guidelines for audit committee service under applicable Canadian and United States securities laws and the rules of the Toronto Stock Exchange). At least one member of the Committee must also be an "audit committee financial expert" (as that term is defined from time to time under the requirements or guidelines for audit committee service under applicable Canadian and United States securities laws and the rules of the Toronto Stock Exchange and Nasdaq).

6. Appointment and Replacement of Committee Members – Any member of the Committee may be removed or replaced at any time by the Board and shall automatically cease to be a member of the Committee upon ceasing to be a director. The Board may fill vacancies on the Committee by appointing another director to the Committee. The Board shall fill any vacancy if the membership of the Committee is less than three directors. Whenever there is a vacancy on the Committee, the remaining members may exercise all of the Committee's powers as long as a quorum remains in office. Subject to the foregoing, the members of the Committee shall be appointed or confirmed by the Board annually and each member of a Committee shall remain on the Committee until such member's successor is duly appointed or such member ceases to be a director.
7. Committee Chair – The Board shall designate the Chair by majority vote. If the Chair is absent from a meeting, the members shall select a Chair from those in attendance to act as Chair of the meeting. If the Committee Chair, the Chair of the Board or the Lead Director, as the case may be, concurs that a potential or actual conflict of interest exists, the member faced with such conflict shall disclose to the Committee his or her interest and shall not participate in consideration of the matter and shall not vote on the matter.
9. Service on Multiple Audit Committees – Members of the Committee may not serve on the audit committee of more than two other publicly-traded companies unless the Board has first determined that such simultaneous service would not impair the ability of the applicable director to serve on the Committee.
10. Compensation of Committee Members – The members of the Committee shall be entitled to receive such remuneration for acting as members of the Committee as the Board may from time to time determine.
11. Meetings – The Committee shall meet regularly at times necessary to perform the duties described herein in a timely manner, but not less than four times a year and any time the Company proposes to issue a press release with its quarterly or annual earnings information. However, a member may in any manner waive a notice of a meeting. Attendance of a member at a meeting constitutes a waiver of notice of such meeting, except where a member attends a meeting for the express purpose of objecting to the transaction of any business on the ground that the meeting has not been lawfully called. Whenever practicable, the agenda for the meeting and the meeting materials shall be provided to members before each Committee meeting in sufficient time to provide adequate opportunity for their review. The notice of meeting does not, however, need to state the purpose for which the meeting is being held.
  - (b) Quorum – A majority of the members constitute a quorum for the transaction of the Committee business.
  - (c) Secretary of Meeting – The Chair of the Committee shall designate a person who need not be a member of the Committee to act as secretary or, if the Chair of the Committee fails to designate such a person, the Corporate Secretary of the Company shall be secretary of the meeting of the Committee.   - (d) Minutes – Minutes of the proceedings of the Committee shall be kept in a minute book provided for that purpose. 14. Reliance – Absent actual knowledge to the contrary (which shall be promptly reported to the Board), each member of the Committee shall be entitled to rely on (i) the integrity of those persons or organizations within and outside the Company from which it receives information, (ii) the accuracy of the financial and other information provided to the Committee by such persons or organizations and (iii) representations made by management and the external auditor as to any information technology, audit and other non-audit services provided by the external auditor to the Company and its subsidiaries.
15. Reporting to the Board – The Committee will report through the Committee Chair to the Board following meetings of the Committee on matters considered by the Committee, its activities and compliance with this Charter.

The Committee shall require the external auditor to provide to the Committee, and the Committee shall review and discuss with the external auditor, all reports which the external auditor is required to provide to the Committee or the Board under rules, policies or practices of professional or regulatory bodies applicable to the external auditor, and any other reports which the Committee may require. Such reports shall include:

    - (b) a report describing (i) all critical accounting policies and practices to be used in the annual audit, (ii) all alternative treatments of financial information within generally accepted accounting principles related to material items that have been discussed with management, ramifications of the use of such alternative disclosures and treatments, and the treatment preferred by the external auditor and (iii) other material written communication between the external auditor and management, such as any management letter or schedule of unadjusted differences.

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

To the Shareholders and Board of Directors of Alithya Group inc.

Opinion on the Consolidated Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying consolidated statements of financial position of Alithya Group inc. (the "Company") as of March 31, 2025 and 2024, the related consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive income (loss), changes in shareholders' equity, and cash flows for the years ended March 31, 2025 and 2024, and the related notes (collectively, the "consolidated financial statements"). In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of March 31, 2025 and 2024, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years ended March 31, 2025 and 2024, in conformity with International Financial Reporting Standards as issued by the International Accounting Standards Board.

We also have audited, in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) (PCAOB), the Company's internal control over financial reporting as of March 31, 2025, based on criteria established in Internal Control - Integrated Framework (2013) issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission, and our report dated June 12, 2025 expressed an adverse opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting.

Basis for Opinion

These consolidated financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audits. We are a public accounting firm registered with the PCAOB and are required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with the U.S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud. Our audits included performing procedures to assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to error or fraud, and performing procedures that respond to those risks. Such procedures included examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. Our audits also included evaluating the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

Critical Audit Matters

The critical audit matters communicated below are matters arising from the current period audit of the consolidated financial statements that were communicated or required to be communicated to the audit committee and that: (1) relate to accounts or disclosures that are material to the consolidated financial statements and (2) involved our especially challenging, subjective, or complex judgments. The communication of critical audit matters does not alter in any way our opinion on the consolidated financial statements, taken as a whole, and we are not, by communicating the critical audit matters below, providing separate opinions on the critical audit matters or on the accounts or disclosures to which they relate.

Impairment test of goodwill

As discussed in note 9 of the consolidated financial statements, the goodwill balance as of March 31, 2025 was $181.4 million. As discussed in note 3 of the consolidated financial statements, goodwill is tested for impairment annually as of March 31, or more frequently, should events or changes in circumstances indicate that it may be impaired. An impairment loss is recognized if the carrying amount of the CGU exceeds its estimated recoverable amount. The recoverable amount of a CGU is the greater of its value in use and its fair value less cost of disposal. Key assumptions of the individual CGUs' value-in-use include forecasted revenues, cost of revenues and selling, general and administration expenses ("SG&A") applied in the determination of the Company's three year net operating cash flow forecast, the estimated long-term growth rate used to extrapolate the three year net operating cash flow forecast, and the pre-tax value weighted average cost of capital ("WACC") applied in the determination of the present value of the net operating cash flow forecast. Key assumptions of the individual CGUs' fair value less cost of disposal include forecasted revenues, cost of revenues, SG&A expenses and other non-cash adjustments applied in the determination of forecasted Adjusted EBITDA, and an implied market multiple applied to forecasted Adjusted EBITDA.

We identified the impairment test of goodwill as a critical audit matter. There was a higher degree of auditor judgment required to evaluate the key assumptions of the individual CGU's value in use. The sensitivity of reasonably possible changes to those assumptions could have a significant impact on the determination of the recoverable amount of the CGUs and the valuation of goodwill.

The following are the primary procedures we performed to address this critical audit matter. We evaluated the design and tested the operating effectiveness of certain internal controls related to the Company's valuation of goodwill process, including controls related to (1) determining the three year net operating cash flow forecast and estimated long-term growth rate used to extrapolate the three year net operating cash flow forecast; and, (2) determining the WACC applied in the determination of the present value of the net operating cash flow forecast. We evaluated each year of the three year net operating cash flow forecast by comparing them to historical actual results and assessed adjustments made to historical actual results through independent corroboration. We involved valuation professionals with specialized skills and knowledge, who assisted in (1) evaluating revenue growth rates applied in the determination of the Company's three year net operating cash flow forecast to publicly available growth rate estimates for comparable companies; (2) evaluating estimated long-term growth rates of net operating cash flows compared to economic data; and, (3) evaluating the WACC by comparing the inputs to the WACC to publicly available data for comparable companies and assessing the resulting WACC.

Revenue recognition for fixed-fee and time and material arrangements applying the input method

As discussed in note 23 of the consolidated financial statements, revenue from fixed fee arrangements and time and material arrangements applying the input method for the year ended March 31, 2025 were $61.4 million and $129.3 million, respectively. As discussed in note 3 of the consolidated financial statements, revenues from consulting services under fixed fee arrangements, and time and material arrangements where contractual billings do not correspond with the value provided to the client and where the outcome of the arrangements can be estimated reliably, are recognized over time based on the measure of progress towards completion. The measure of progress towards completion is determined by comparing labour costs incurred to date to total expected labour costs to complete the service, to arrive at an estimate of the percentage of revenue earned to date. The determination of total expected labour costs to complete a service is based on estimates that can be affected by a variety of factors, including but not limited to, changes in the scope of the contract, delays in reaching milestones, changes in labour mix and rates, previously unidentified complexities in service delivery, or potential claims from customers.

We identified revenue recognition for fixed-fee and time and material arrangements applying the input method as a critical audit matter. There was a higher degree of auditor judgment required to evaluate the total expected labour costs to complete estimates applied to arrive at an estimate of the percentage of revenue earned to date because of the subjective nature of the estimate.

The following are the primary procedures we performed to address this critical audit matter. For a sample of contracts which are uncompleted at the reporting date, we (1) obtained and read customer arrangements and change orders, when applicable, to understand the contract scope and key terms; (2) evaluated the identification of factors that can affect total expected labour costs to complete, including, but not limited to, changes in the scope of the contract, delays in reaching milestones, changes in labour mix and rates, previously unidentified complexities in service delivery, or potential claims from customers; (3) interviewed operational personnel as to the status of projects to evaluate progress to date, the estimate of total labour costs to complete, and factors that can affect total expected labor costs to complete; (4) performed a comparison of total labour costs incurred and the total expected labour costs to complete at the reporting date, to the originally estimated labour costs; and, (5) performed a comparison of actual labour costs incurred for the month subsequent to year end to expected labour costs to complete estimates as at period end over corresponding subsequent periods.

We have served as the Company's auditor since 2021.

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

To the Shareholders and Board of Directors of Alithya Group inc.

Opinion on Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

We have audited Alithya Group inc.'s (the "Company") internal control over financial reporting as of March 31, 2025, based on criteria established in Internal Control – Integrated Framework (2013) issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission. In our opinion, because of the effect of the material weakness, described below, on the achievement of the objectives of the control criteria, the Company has not maintained effective internal control over financial reporting as of March 31, 2025, based on criteria established in Internal Control – Integrated Framework (2013) issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission.

We also have audited, in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) ("PCAOB"), the consolidated statements of financial position of the Company as of March 31, 2025 and 2024, the related consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive income (loss), changes in shareholders' equity, and cash flows for the years ended March 31, 2025 and 2024, and the related notes (collectively, the "consolidated financial statements"), and our report dated June 12, 2025 expressed an unqualified opinion on those consolidated financial statements.

A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control over financial reporting, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the company's annual or interim financial statements will not be prevented or detected on a timely basis. A material weakness related to the control activities in the Company's revenue processes for fixed-fee and time and material arrangements applying the input method has been identified and included in management's assessment. The material weakness was considered in determining the nature, timing, and extent of audit tests applied in our audit of the 2025 consolidated financial statements, and this report does not affect our report on those consolidated financial statements.

Basis for Opinion

The Company's management is responsible for maintaining effective internal control over financial reporting and for its assessment of the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting, included in the "Management's Report on Internal Control over Financial Reporting" section of the Company's Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations for the year ended March 31, 2025. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal control over financial reporting based on our audit. We are a public accounting firm registered with the PCAOB and are required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with the U.S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB.

We conducted our audit in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether effective internal control over financial reporting was maintained in all material respects. Our audit of internal control over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal control over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. Our audit also included performing such other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

Definition and Limitations of Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

A company's internal control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Because of its inherent limitations, internal control over financial reporting may not prevent or detect misstatements. Also, projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risk that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Basis of measurement

These consolidated financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost basis except for :

- Identifiable assets acquired and liabilities and contingent liabilities resulting from a business acquisition, which are generally measured initially at their fair values at the acquisition date, and contingent purchase considerations which are measured at the acquisition date and subsequently at fair value;

- Equity classified share-based payment arrangements which are measured at fair value at grant date pursuant to IFRS 2, Share-Based Payment.

3. MATERIAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES

PRINCIPLES OF CONSOLIDATION

Subsidiaries

Subsidiaries are entities controlled by the Company. The Company controls an entity when it is exposed or has the right to variable returns from its relationship with the entity and is able to affect those returns through its power over the activities of the entity. All intercompany balances and transactions, and any unrealized income and expenses arising from intracompany transactions, are eliminated on consolidation.

TRANSLATION OF FOREIGN CURRENCIES

The Company's consolidated financial statements are presented in Canadian dollars, which is also the parent company's functional currency. Each entity in the group determines its own functional currency and items included in the consolidated financial statements of each entity are measured using that functional currency. Functional currency is the currency of the primary economic environment in which the entity operates.

Foreign currency transactions and balances

Revenue, expenses and non-monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are recorded at the rate of exchange prevailing at the transaction date. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated at exchange rates prevailing at the reporting date. Unrealized and realized translation gains and losses are reflected in the consolidated statements of operations.

Foreign operations

Assets and liabilities of each entity with a functional currency other than the Canadian dollar are translated into Canadian dollars upon consolidation at the closing rate at the reporting date. Revenue and expenses have been translated into Canadian dollars at average exchange rates over the reporting period. Exchange differences are recognized in other comprehensive income in the currency translation reserve in equity.

SEGMENTED REPORTING

Segments are reported in a manner consistent with the internal reporting provided to the chief operating decision-maker. The chief operating decision-maker is responsible for allocating resources and assessing the performance of the reportable segments.

A company shall disclose separately information about each operating segment, and can combine operating segments, with similar economic characteristics or that do not meet quantitative thresholds, into one reportable segment.

The Company has three operating and reportable segments based on geography: Canada, U.S. and International.

REVENUE RECOGNITION, UNBILLED REVENUES AND DEFERRED REVENUES

The Company generates revenue in the areas of information technology, principally through strategic consulting, enterprise transformation and business enablement services. These services are provided under various arrangements as defined below.

Revenue is recognized either at a point in time or over time, when (or as) the Company satisfies performance obligations by transferring the promised services to its customers, including variable consideration, such as discounts, volume rebates and service-level penalties. Variable consideration is estimated using either the expected value method or most likely amount method and is included in the transaction price only to the extent it is highly probable that a significant reversal of cumulative revenue recognized will not occur. In making this judgement, management will mostly consider all information available at the time, the Company's knowledge of the client or the industry, the type of services to be delivered and the specific contractual terms of each arrangement.

Billing terms can be monthly, based on milestones or upfront, depending on the contractual terms with the client. Once invoiced, invoices generally have payment terms of 30 days. Contracts generally do not contain significant financing components.

The Company enters into arrangements with multiple performance obligations which typically include consulting services, post-contract support (including maintenance), and software. Contracts that contain multiple performance obligations require an allocation of the transaction price to each performance obligation based on a relative standalone selling price basis. The Company has determined standalone selling prices for:

- consulting services based on a stated and consistent rate per hour range in standalone transactions;
- post-contract support based on observable prices for standalone renewals; and
- software through consistent stated rates for software components.

Certain of the Company's arrangements may include client acceptance clauses. Each clause is analyzed to determine whether the earnings process is complete when the service is performed. Formal client sign-off is not always necessary to recognize revenue, provided that the Company objectively demonstrates that the criteria specified in the acceptance provisions are satisfied. Some of the criteria reviewed include historical experience with similar types of arrangements, whether the acceptance provisions are specific to the client or are included in all arrangements, the length of the acceptance term and historical experience with the specific client.

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS FOR THE YEARS ENDED MARCH 31, 2025 AND 2024

(Tabular amounts are in thousands of Canadian dollars, except share and per share data in tables)

3. MATERIAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONT'D)

Contract modifications are changes in scope and/or price that are approved by the parties to the contract. Approvals may be written, oral or implied by customary business practices, and are legally enforceable. The Company accounts for modifications as a separate contract if the modifications add distinct services that are priced commensurate with standalone selling prices or if the remaining services are distinct from those already transferred, otherwise modifications are accounted for as part of the original contract. When the contract modification is not accounted for as a separate contract, the Company recognizes an adjustment to revenue on the existing contract on a cumulative catch-up basis as at the date of the contract modification or, if the remaining services are distinct performance obligations, the Company recognizes the remaining consideration prospectively.

Time and materials arrangements

Revenue from strategic consulting and enterprise transformation services, including enterprise applications implementation, under time and materials arrangements is recognized as the services are rendered. Contractual billings of such arrangements correspond with the value provided to the client, and therefore revenues are recognized on an hourly basis.

Time and materials arrangements where contractual billings do not correspond with the value provided to the client are recognized based on the accounting policies for fixed-fee arrangements as defined below.

Fixed-fee arrangements

Revenue from enterprise transformation services, including enterprise applications implementation, under fixed-fee arrangements where the outcome of the arrangements can be estimated reliably is recognized over time based on the measure of progress determined by the Company's efforts or inputs towards satisfying the performance obligation relative to the total expected inputs (the "Input Method") as it fulfills its performance obligations in line with contracted terms. The Company primarily uses labour costs to measure the progress towards completion. This method relies on estimates of total expected labour costs to complete the service, which are compared to labour costs incurred to date, to arrive at an estimate of the percentage of revenue earned to date. Management regularly reviews underlying estimates of total expected labour costs. If the outcome of an arrangement cannot be estimated reliably, revenue is recognized to the extent of arrangement costs incurred that are likely to be recoverable. For certain contracts, the Company recognizes revenue based on its right to consideration when such amount corresponds to the entity's performance completed to date.

Business enablement services

Managed services revenue is generated through a recurring fee in exchange for a monthly recurring service (typically support). The revenue for these arrangements is recognized over the contract term, either on a straight-line basis or based on usage.

Subscriptions to learning services, which are available to customers at any time with unlimited use, are recognized over time, on a straight-line basis, over the contract term.

Software revenue is generated in part from the resale of certain third-party off-the-shelf software and maintenance. The majority of the software sold by the Company is delivered electronically. For software that is delivered electronically, the Company considers transfer of control to have occurred when the customer either (a) takes possession of the software via a download (that is, when the customer takes possession of the electronic data on its hardware), or (b) has been provided with access codes that allow the customer to take immediate possession of the software on its hardware pursuant to an agreement or purchase order for the software. In all instances, the resale of third-party software and maintenance is recorded on a net basis.

(Tabular amounts are in thousands of Canadian dollars, except share and per share data in tables)

3. MATERIAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONT'D)

Third party software and maintenance revenue is recognized upon delivery of the software, as all related warranty and maintenance is performed by the primary software vendor and not the Company.

Company created software, and the associated maintenance, is reported on a gross basis and revenue is recognized at the point in time when it is distinct from the maintenance and support, otherwise it is recognized over the contractual term. Revenue from the sale of Company created software from software as a service ("SaaS") is recognized on a straight-line basis as the Company stands ready to provide customers with continuous access to its software over the contractual term. For a SaaS arrangement with a fee structure based upon customer usage and priced at a fixed rate for usage, the Company recognizes revenue over the contractual term based on its right to consideration when such amount corresponds to the entity's performance completed to date.

Estimated losses on revenue-generating contracts

Estimated losses on revenue-generating contracts may occur due to additional contract costs which were not foreseen at the inception of the contract. Contract losses are measured at the amount by which the estimated incremental costs, including direct labour, material and an allocation of other costs that relate directly to fulfilling contracts exceed the estimated total revenue from the contract. The estimated losses on revenue-generating contracts are recognized in the period when it is determined that a loss is probable. The expected loss is first applied to impair the related capitalized contract costs, if any, with the excess recorded under performance obligations in customer contracts in accounts payable and accrued liabilities. Management regularly reviews arrangement profitability and underlying estimates.

Unbilled revenues and deferred revenues

Amounts recognized as revenue in excess of billings are classified as unbilled revenues. Amounts received in advance of the performance of services are classified as deferred revenues when the Company has an unconditional right to invoice.

FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

Recognition and derecognition

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognized when the Company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the financial instrument.

Financial assets are derecognized when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the financial asset expire, or when the financial asset and substantially all the risks and rewards are transferred. A financial liability is derecognized when it is extinguished, discharged, cancelled or expires.

Classification and initial measurement of financial assets

All financial assets of the Company are classified into the amortized cost category. The classification is determined by both:

- the entity's business model for managing the financial asset; and
- the contractual cash flow characteristics of the financial asset.

Except for those accounts receivable and other receivables that do not contain a significant financing component and are measured at the transaction price in accordance with IFRS 15, all financial assets are initially measured at fair value adjusted for transaction costs, where applicable.

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS FOR THE YEARS ENDED MARCH 31, 2025 AND 2024

(Tabular amounts are in thousands of Canadian dollars, except share and per share data in tables)

3. MATERIAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONT'D)

All income and expenses relating to financial assets that are recognized in profit or loss are presented within financial expense, except for impairment of accounts receivable and other receivables, which is presented within selling, general and administrative expenses.

Subsequent measurement of financial assets at amortized cost

After initial recognition, all financial assets are measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method, less any impairment. Discounting is omitted where the effect of discounting is immaterial.

Impairment of accounts receivable and other receivables and unbilled revenues

The Company uses the simplified approach to measure the estimated credit loss for accounts receivable and other receivables and unbilled revenues and accordingly records the loss allowance as lifetime expected credit losses. These are the expected shortfalls in contractual cash flows, considering the potential for default at any point during the life of the financial instrument. The Company uses its historical experience, external indicators and forward-looking information to calculate the expected credit losses using a provision matrix.

The Company assesses impairment of accounts receivable and other receivables and unbilled revenues based on days past due on a collective basis as customers with similar payment delays possess shared credit risk characteristics. The Company also assesses impairment of accounts receivable and other receivables and unbilled revenues on a customer-by-customer basis based on specific risks identified.

The Company considers a financial asset in default when contractual payments are considered past due and at risk depending on the various economic and asset-specific factors, or if it becomes probable that a customer will enter bankruptcy or other insolvency proceedings.

Classification and measurement of financial liabilities

Contingent considerations payable in cash or in a variable number of shares included in purchase consideration are classified as financial liabilities, initially and subsequently measured at fair value with changes in fair value recognized in profit or loss.

All other financial liabilities of the Company are initially measured at fair value, and where applicable, adjusted for transaction costs and subsequently measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method.

All interest-related charges are reported in the consolidated statements of operations within financial expenses.

EARNINGS (LOSS) PER SHARE

Basic earnings (loss) per share is calculated by dividing the net earnings (loss) attributable to the holders of the Subordinate Voting Shares and Class B multiple voting shares (the "Multiple Voting Shares") (together the "Shares") by the weighted average number of Shares outstanding during the period.

Diluted earnings (loss) per share is determined using the treasury stock method to evaluate the dilutive effect of stock options, deferred, restricted and performance share units, certain shares to be issued as part of anniversary payments related to business acquisition and shares subject to forfeiture.

GOVERNMENT ASSISTANCE

Certain subsidiaries are eligible for government assistance programs, in different jurisdictions, in the form of grants and tax credits for the development of e-business. Government assistance is recorded when there is reasonable assurance that the assistance will be received and that the subsidiary will comply with all relevant conditions. The government assistance is treated as a reduction in the cost of the qualifying expenditure.

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS FOR THE YEARS ENDED MARCH 31, 2025 AND 2024

3. MATERIAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONT'D)

In preparing claims, judgment is required in interpreting the regulations related to these programs, determining if the operations of the subsidiaries qualify and identifying and quantifying eligible expenses. These claims are subject to examination and audit by local authorities, who may disagree with interpretations made by the Company. Management estimates the amounts to be received under these programs. Final government assistance received following examinations and audits could be different from amounts recorded.

PROPERTY AND EQUIPMENT ("P&E")

Property and equipment are recorded at cost and amortized over their estimated useful lives, using the following methods:

	Method	Rates
Furniture, fixtures and equipment	Declining balance	20 %
Computer equipment	Declining balance	30 %
Leasehold improvements	Straight line	Over the term of the lease

The residual value, depreciation method and useful life of each asset are reviewed at least once a year, at the reporting date.

LEASES

The Company as a lessee

For any new contracts entered into, the Company considers whether a contract is, or contains a lease. A lease is defined as a "contract, or part of a contract, that conveys the right to use an identified asset (the underlying asset) for a period of time in exchange for consideration".

Measurement and recognition of leases as a lessee

At lease commencement date, the Company recognizes a right-of-use asset and a lease liability on the statement of financial position. The right-of-use asset is measured at cost, which is made up of the initial measurement of the lease liability, any initial direct costs incurred by the Company, an estimate of any costs to dismantle and remove the asset at the end of the lease, and any lease payments made in advance of the lease commencement date (net of any incentives received).

The Company depreciates the right-of-use assets on a straight-line basis from the lease commencement date to the earlier of the end of the useful life of the right-of-use asset or the end of the lease term. The lease term includes consideration of an option to renew or to terminate if the Company is reasonably certain to exercise that option. The Company also assesses the right-of-use asset for impairment when such indicators exist.

At the commencement date, the Company measures the lease liability at the present value of the lease payments unpaid at that date, discounted using the interest rate implicit in the lease if that rate is readily available or the Company's incremental borrowing rate.

Lease payments included in the measurement of the lease liability are made up of fixed payments (including in-substance fixed payments), variable payments based on an index or rate, amounts expected to be payable under a residual value guarantee and payments arising from options reasonably certain to be exercised. Payments related to non-lease components, mostly made of common area maintenance fees, are excluded from the lease liabilities and are recorded as an expense over the lease term.

Subsequent to initial measurement, the liability will be reduced for payments made and increased for interest, which are recorded as part of net financial expenses. It is remeasured to reflect any reassessment or modification, or if there are changes in in-substance fixed payments.

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS FOR THE YEARS ENDED MARCH 31, 2025 AND 2024

(Tabular amounts are in thousands of Canadian dollars, except share and per share data in tables)

3. MATERIAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONT'D)

When the lease liability is remeasured, the corresponding adjustment is reflected in the right-of-use asset, or net earnings if the right-of-use asset is already reduced to zero.

The Company has elected to account for short-term leases and leases of low-value assets using the practical expedients. Instead of recognizing a right-of-use asset and lease liability, the payments in relation to these are recognized as an expense in the consolidated statements of operations on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

INTANGIBLES

Intangible assets consist mainly of customer relationships, non-compete agreements, internal-use business solutions, software licenses and tradenames acquired through business acquisitions and initially recorded at their fair value. Internal use business solutions and software licenses ("Software") purchased by the Company are recorded at cost. In addition, internal-use business solutions developed internally are capitalized when they meet specific capitalization criteria related to technical and financial feasibility and when the Company demonstrates its ability and intention to use them. Amortization of internal-use business solutions commences once the solution is available for use. The Company amortizes its intangible assets using the straight-line method as follows :

	Method	Period
Customer relationships	Straight line	3 - 10 years
Non-compete agreements	Straight line	3 - 10 years
Software	Straight line	3 years
Tradenames	-	Indefinite

The residual value, depreciation method and useful life of each asset are reviewed at least once a year, at the reporting date.

GOODWILL

Goodwill arises on business acquisitions accounted for under the acquisition method and represents the excess of consideration transferred over the fair value of the Company's share of the net identifiable assets acquired and liabilities assumed of the acquired entity at the date of acquisition and it is measured net of accumulated impairment losses. Goodwill is not amortized, but instead tested for impairment annually, or more frequently, should events or changes in circumstances indicate that the goodwill may be impaired.

IMPAIRMENT OF P&E, RIGHT-OF-USE ASSETS, INTANGIBLES AND GOODWILL

Timing of impairment testing

The carrying amounts of the Company's P&E, right-of-use assets, intangible assets and goodwill are reviewed for impairment when events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying value may be impaired. At each reporting date, the Company assesses whether there is any indication of impairment. If any such indication exists, then the asset's recoverable amount is estimated. Goodwill and intangible assets that have indefinite useful lives or that are not yet available for use are tested for impairment at least annually as at March 31.

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS FOR THE YEARS ENDED MARCH 31, 2025 AND 2024

(Tabular amounts are in thousands of Canadian dollars, except share and per share data in tables)

3. MATERIAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONT'D)

Impairment testing

The recoverable amount of an asset or cash-generating unit ("CGU") is the greater of its value in use and its fair value less costs of disposal. For the purpose of impairment testing, assets that cannot be tested individually are grouped together into the smallest group of assets that generates cash inflows from continuing use and which are largely independent of the cash inflows of other assets or groups of assets (the "CGU"). For the purposes of goodwill impairment testing, goodwill acquired in a business acquisition is allocated to the CGU, or the group of CGUs, that is expected to benefit from the synergies of the combination. This allocation is subject to an operating segment ceiling test and reflects the lowest level at which that goodwill is monitored for internal reporting purposes. An impairment loss is recognized if the carrying amount of an asset or its CGU exceeds its estimated recoverable amount.

Reversal of Impairment

An impairment loss in respect of goodwill is not reversed. In respect of other assets, impairment losses recognized in prior periods are assessed at each reporting date for any indications that the loss has decreased or no longer exists. An impairment loss is reversed if there has been a change in the estimates used to determine the recoverable amount. An impairment loss is reversed only to the extent that the asset's carrying amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined, net of depreciation or amortization, if no impairment loss had been recognized.

BUSINESS ACQUISITION, INTEGRATION AND REORGANIZATION COSTS

Business acquisition, integration and reorganization costs are comprised of transaction costs related to business acquisitions, whether successful or not, costs of integrating acquired businesses including redundant rent, gains or losses on lease modifications, impairment of right-of-use assets from previous business acquisitions, gains or losses on disposal of non-core assets, transition costs relating to system integrations, contingent consideration as well as employee compensation related to business acquisitions and severance resulting from integrations and significant changes in the organizational structure.

Reorganization costs, consisting primarily of severance, are recognized when a detailed formal plan identifies the business or part of the business concerned, the location and number of employees affected, a detailed estimate of the associated costs, appropriate timelines and has been communicated to those affected by it.

PROVISIONS

Provisions are recognized when the Company has a present legal or constructive obligation as a result of a past event, it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation. The Company's provisions may consist of litigation and claim provisions arising in the ordinary course of business.

The accrued litigation and legal claim provisions are based on historical experience, current trends and other assumptions that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances. Estimates include the period in which the underlying cause of the claim occurred and the degree of probability of an unfavorable outcome.

INCOME TAXES

Income taxes are accounted for using the liability method of accounting.

Current income taxes are recognized with respect to the amounts expected to be paid or recovered under the tax rates and laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date. Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are determined based on deductible or taxable temporary differences between the amounts reported for financial statement purposes and tax values of the assets and liabilities using enacted or substantively enacted tax rates that will be in effect for the year in which the differences are expected to be recovered or settled. Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are recognized in earnings, other comprehensive income or in equity based on the classification of the item to which they relate.

Deferred tax is not recognized for the following temporary differences: the initial recognition of assets or liabilities in a transaction that is not a business acquisition and that affects neither accounting nor taxable profit or loss, and differences relating to investments in subsidiaries to the extent that it is probable that they will not reverse in the foreseeable future. In addition, deferred tax is not recognized for taxable temporary differences arising on the initial recognition of goodwill.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset if there is a legally enforceable right to offset current tax liabilities and assets, and they relate to income taxes levied by the same tax authority on the same taxable entity, or on different tax entities, but they intend to settle current tax liabilities and assets on a net basis or their tax assets and liabilities will be realized simultaneously.

A deferred tax asset is recognized for unused tax losses, tax credits and deductible temporary differences, to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profits will be available against which they can be utilized. Deferred tax assets are reviewed at each reporting date and are reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that the related tax benefit will be realized.

SHARE CAPITAL

Subordinate Voting Shares and Multiple Voting Shares are classified as equity. Incremental costs directly attributable to the issuance of shares are recognized as a deduction from equity, net of any tax effects.

Normal course issuer bid ("NCIB")

When the Company purchases its Subordinate Voting Shares for cancellation through a NCIB, the consideration paid, including any directly attributable incremental costs (net of income taxes) is deducted from equity attributable to the Company's equity holders until the shares are cancelled. When the shares are cancelled, the difference between the consideration paid and the average stated value of the shares purchased for cancellation is recorded to the deficit.

SHARE-BASED COMPENSATION PLANS

Share purchase plan

The Company operates a share purchase plan for eligible employees of the Company. Under this plan, the Company matches the contributions made by employees up to a maximum percentage of the employee's gross salary. The Company's contributions to the plan are recognized as salaries within cost of revenues and selling, general and administrative expenses.

Long-term incentive plan ("LTIP") and share unit plan ("SUP"), (together the "Incentive Plans")

The Company operates a LTIP for eligible employees and directors of the Company which provides for various types of awards, including equity-settled stock options, deferred share units ("DSUs"), restricted share units ("RSUs") and performance share units ("PSUs"). The Board, at its discretion, may elect to settle RSUs and PSUs in cash.

The Company also operates a SUP for eligible employees of the Company. Under this plan, eligible employees may elect to receive up to 50% of their annual bonus in DSUs and/or RSUs ("Bonus DSUs/RSUs") with the Company granting additional DSUs/RSUs equal to 25% of the Bonus DSUs/RSUs. The SUP also provides for the grant of discretionary DSUs and/or RSUs. The Board, at its discretion, may elect to settle DSUs and RSUs in cash.

The Company accounts for all grants as equity-settled awards as the Board intends to settle awards issued under the LTIP through the issuance of share capital and under the SUP through Subordinate Voting Shares purchased on the TSX.

The share-based payment expense is recognized in selling, general and administrative expenses and business acquisition, integration and reorganization costs with a corresponding adjustment through contributed surplus over the vesting period based on the grant date fair value of the award. Forfeitures, which are estimated at the time of grant, are included in the measurement of the expense and are subsequently adjusted to reflect actual events. For awards with graded vesting, the fair value of each tranche is recognized on a straight-line basis over its respective vesting period.

For stock options, the grant date fair value is measured using the Black-Scholes option pricing model. Any consideration paid by participants on exercise of stock options is credited to share capital together with any related share-based compensation expense originally recorded in contributed surplus.

For RSUs and DSUs, the grant date fair value is measured at the fair value of the underlying Subordinate Voting Share as at the grant date. For bonus DSUs/RSUs under the SUP, the fair value of the share-based expense is based on 125% of the fair value of the bonus elected to be settled as DSUs and/or RSUs, with a corresponding adjustment through contributed surplus. An expense is recognized over the vesting period as share-based payments within selling, general and administrative expenses, with a corresponding amount recognized in contributed surplus. The amount recognized as an expense is adjusted to reflect the number of units for which the related service and performance conditions are expected to be met, such that the amount ultimately recognized as an expense is based on the units of awards that do meet the related service and non-market performance conditions at the vesting date.

The terms and conditions of each grant of PSUs, including market and non-market performance goals, are determined by the Board. The amount recognized as an expense is adjusted to reflect the number of awards for which the related service and non-market performance conditions are expected to be met, such that the amount ultimately recognized is based on the number of awards that meet the related service and non-market performance conditions at the vesting date. The determination as to whether the performance goals have been achieved is made by the Board.

When DSUs, RSUs and PSUs are settled, the recorded fair value of the award is removed from contributed surplus and credited to share capital.

SIGNIFICANT MANAGEMENT JUDGEMENT IN APPLYING ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND ESTIMATION UNCERTAINTY

The preparation of these consolidated financial statements in conformity with IFRS requires management to make judgments, estimates and assumptions that affect the application of accounting policies and the amounts reported as assets, liabilities, income and expenses in the consolidated financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognized in the period in which they occur and in any future periods affected.

The following are critical judgements that management has made in applying accounting policies and that have the most significant effect on the amounts recognized in the consolidated financial statements:

Determination of cash generating units – The identification of CGUs and grouping of assets into the respective CGUs is based on currently available information about actual utilization experience and expected future business plans. Management has taken into consideration various factors in identifying its CGUs. These factors include how the Company manages and monitors its operations, the nature of each CGU's operations, and the major customer markets they serve. As such, the Company has identified its CGUs for purposes of testing the recoverability and impairment of non-financial assets to be: Canada, France, EPM, ERP and Industry Solutions.

Determination of operating segments – The Company uses judgment in the determination of operating segments for financial reporting and disclosure purposes. The Company has examined its activities and has determined that it has three reportable segments based on geography: Canada, U.S. and International.

The following are assumptions and estimation uncertainties that have a significant risk of resulting in material adjustments within the next year:

Revenue recognition for fixed-fee and time and material arrangements applying the Input Method – The Company recognizes revenues from arrangements applying the input method which can extend over more than one reporting period. Revenue from these arrangements applying the Input Method is recognized over time based on a measure of progress using the Company's best estimate of the total expected labour costs, and the related risks associated with completing the service. The determination of total expected labour costs to complete a service is based on estimates that can be affected by a variety of factors, including but not limited to, changes in the scope of the contract, delays in reaching milestones, changes in labour mix and rates, previously unidentified complexities in service delivery, or potential claims from customers.

As risks and uncertainties are different for each project, the sources of variations between anticipated costs and actual costs incurred will also vary by project. The determination of estimates is based on the Company's business practices as well as its historical experience, and is tightly linked to detailed project management processes and controls. The information provided by the project managers combined with a knowledgeable assessment of technical complexities and risks are used in estimating the percentage complete.

Impairment of long-lived assets – The Company's impairment test for goodwill is based on internal estimates of its individual CGUs' recoverable amounts determined as the greater of value in use and fair value less costs of disposal. Value in use represents the present value of the future cash flows expected to be derived from the CGU from its continued use. The fair value less cost of disposal represents the price that would be received to sell the CGU in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date under current market conditions, less incremental costs directly attributable to disposing of the CGU, excluding finance costs and income tax expense.

3. MATERIAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONT'D)

Key assumptions of the individual CGUs' value-in-use include forecasted revenues, cost of revenues, SG&A expenses and other non-cash adjustments applied in the determination of the Company's three year net operating cash flow forecast, estimated long-term growth rates used to extrapolate the three year net operating cash flow forecast and the pre-tax value weighted average cost of capital ("WACC") applied in the determination of the present value of the net operating cash flow forecast.

Key assumptions of the individual CGUs' fair value less cost of disposal include estimated revenues, cost of revenues, SG&A expenses and other non-cash adjustments applied in the determination of the Company's forecasted Adjusted EBITDA (as defined in note 26) and an implied market multiple applied to forecasted Adjusted EBITDA.

Changes in these key assumptions can have a material impact on the recoverable amount calculated and ultimately the amount of any goodwill impairment recognized. Refer to note 9 for additional information on the assumptions used.

ACCOUNTING STANDARD AMENDMENTS AND INTERPRETATIONS EFFECTIVE FOR THE YEAR ENDED MARCH 31, 2025

The following amendments to existing standards were adopted by the Company on April 1, 2024:

IAS 1 - Presentation of Financial Statements

On January 23, 2020, the IASB issued amendments to IAS 1 - Presentation of Financial Statements, to clarify the classification of liabilities as current or non-current. For the purposes of non-current classification, the amendments removed the requirement for a right to defer settlement or roll over of a liability for at least twelve months to be unconditional. Instead, such a right must have substance and exist at the end of the reporting period. After reconsidering certain aspects of the 2020 amendments, the IASB reconfirmed that only covenants with which a company must comply on or before the reporting date affect the classification of a liability as current or non-current. Additional disclosure will be required to help users understand the risk that those liabilities could become repayable within twelve months after the reporting date. The amendments also clarify how a company classifies a liability that includes a counterparty conversion option. The amendments state that: settlement of a liability includes transferring a company's own equity instruments to the counterparty; and when classifying liabilities as current or non-current, a company can ignore only those conversion options that are recognized as equity. The amendments to IAS 1 apply retrospectively and are effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2024. The amendments to IAS 1 had no impact on the Company's consolidated financial statements.

International Financial Reporting Interpretations Committee ("IFRIC") Agenda Decision on Segment Reporting

In July 2024, the IFRS Interpretations Committee issued an agenda decision clarifying disclosure requirements for reportable segments under IFRS 8 – Operating Segments. The decision emphasizes the need to disclose certain specified items if these are included in the measure of segment profit or loss reviewed by the Chief Operating Decision Maker (CODM) or are otherwise regularly provided to the CODM, even if not included in that measure of segment profit or loss. As a result, the Company has made changes to reflect these requirements in note 23, Segment and geographical information.

FUTURE ACCOUNTING STANDARDS CHANGES

At the date of authorization of these consolidated financial statements, certain new standards, amendments and interpretations, and improvements to existing standards have been published by the IASB but are not yet effective and have not been adopted early by the Company. Management anticipates that all the relevant pronouncements will be adopted in the first reporting period following the date of application. Information on new standards, amendments and interpretations, and improvements to existing standards, which could potentially impact the Company's consolidated financial statements, are detailed as follows:

IFRS 18 - Presentation and Disclosures in Financial Statements

On April 9, 2024, the IASB published the new IFRS 18 – Presentation and Disclosures in Financial Statements that will replace IAS 1 – Presentation of Financial Statements.

IFRS 18 covers four main areas:

- Introduction of defined subtotals and categories in the statement of profit or loss;
- Introduction of requirements to improve aggregation and disaggregation;
- Introduction of disclosures about management-defined performance measures (MPMs) in the notes to the financial statements; and
- Targeted improvements to the statement of cash flows by amending IAS 7 – Statement of Cash Flows.

IFRS 18 applies retrospectively and is effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2027, with earlier application permitted. Management is currently evaluating the impact of the amendment on its consolidated financial statements.

IFRS 7 and IFRS 9 - Classification and measurement of Financial Instruments

In May 2024, the IASB issued amendments to IFRS 9 – Financial Instruments and IFRS 7 – Financial Instruments: Disclosures. The standard amendments clarify the date of recognition and derecognition of some financial assets and liabilities, with a new exception for some financial liabilities settled through an electronic cash transfer system. Furthermore, they clarify the description of non-recourse assets and contractually linked instruments and they introduce additional disclosures for financial instruments with contractual terms that can change cash flows, and equity instruments classified at fair value through other comprehensive income. The amendments to IFRS 7 and IFRS 9 apply retrospectively and are effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2026, with earlier application permitted. Management is currently evaluating the impact of the amendment on its consolidated financial statements.

4. BUSINESS ACQUISITION

XRM Vision

Overview

On December 1, 2024, the Company acquired all of the issued and outstanding shares of Canadian-based XRM Vision Inc. and all of its affiliates ("XRM Vision") (the "XRM Acquisition"), a recognized Microsoft partner. Management expects that XRM Vision's expertise will complement its existing business and will reinforce Alithya's smart shoring capabilities.

The XRM Acquisition was completed for total consideration of up to $34,384,000, in aggregate.

The total purchase consideration of up to $30,009,000 consisted of: (i) $7,377,000 paid in cash at closing; (ii) final working capital adjustment of $632,000, included in accounts payable and accrued liabilities as at March 31, 2025; (iii) $2,875,000 paid by the issuance of 1,724,550 Subordinate Voting Shares; (iv) $8,625,000 of balance of sale, payable over three years on December 1, 2025, 2026 and 2027 (the "Anniversary Dates"); and (v) potential earn-out consideration of up to $10,500,000, including $9,000,000 payable in cash and $1,500,000 by the issuance of Subordinate Voting Shares.

The total other consideration of $4,375,000 consisted of: (i) 1,724,553 Subordinate Voting Shares, with a fair value of $2,875,000, issued at closing; and (ii) Subordinate Voting Shares with a value of up to $1,500,000 which may be issued as part of the earn-out consideration. These Subordinate Voting Shares issued and/or issuable are subject to claw-back clauses based on continued employment and accordingly, these share considerations are recognized as share-based compensation granted on business acquisition over three years (note 14).

The number of Subordinate Voting Shares issuable as part of the earn-out will be determined by dividing the earn-out amount payable in Subordinate Voting Shares by the Volume Weighted Average Price ("VWAP") for the 15 trading days ending on and including the date that is 2 business days prior to the payment date of the earn-out. The settlement of the earn-out will be due after the 18 months following closing, once the earn-out consideration has been finalized.

The total earn-out consideration of $12,000,000, in aggregate, is contingent upon the future financial performance of the acquired business over a consecutive 12-month period within the 18 months following the acquisition date. The undiscounted scenario-based weighted average expected payout amount for the total potential earn-out consideration is $7,260,000.

The fair value of the earn-out purchase price consideration of $5,104,000 is classified as a financial liability recorded at fair value through profit and loss and comprised an undiscounted scenario-based weighted average expected payout amount for the potential earn-out consideration included in the purchase consideration of $6,353,000. The contingent consideration liability included in the purchase price is included in Level 3 of the fair value hierarchy and will be remeasured at fair value at each reporting date. The fair value was determined using a scenario-based method, under which the Company identifies multiple outcomes, probability-weights the contingent consideration payoff under each outcome, and discounts the result to arrive at the expected present value of the contingent consideration. At acquisition date, the discount rate used was 15.7%. Subsequent changes to the fair value of contingent consideration liability included in the purchase price will be recorded to business acquisition, integration and reorganization costs. There were no substantive changes to the contingent consideration liability as at March 31, 2025.

As part of the XRM Acquisition, the Company assumed $829,000 of long-term debt of which an amount of $333,000 was repaid immediately upon closing.

4. BUSINESS ACQUISITION (CONT'D)

As at December 31, 2024, due to the short period of time between the acquisition date and reporting period, the determination of the fair value of intangible assets and purchase consideration, final closing adjustments and related income tax payable and deferred tax considerations was preliminary pending the completion of selection of appropriate valuation techniques and inputs. As a result, some changes have been made to the purchase consideration and the allocation of fair value. The goodwill adjustment resulted primarily from the determination of the fair value of the earn-out consideration. In addition, the tax credits receivable were applied to settle the income tax payable related to the period prior to the acquisition and a portion was reclassified as a non-current asset. The fair value of the assets acquired and liabilities assumed is preliminary pending completion. Should new information, obtained within one year of the date of acquisition, about the facts and circumstances that existed at the date of the XRM Acquisition, result in adjustments, or require additional provisions for conditions that existed at the date of the XRM Acquisition, the fair value will then be revised. Accordingly, the values in the table above are subject to change.

The XRM Acquisition is being accounted for using the acquisition method of accounting.

Goodwill

The goodwill recognized consists mainly of the future economic value attributable to the profitability of the acquired business, as well as its workforce and expected synergies from the integration of XRM Vision into the Company's existing business. The Company does not expect the goodwill to be deductible for income tax purposes.

Purchase consideration

The following table summarizes the acquisition date fair value of each class of purchase consideration :

XRM Vision's contribution to the Company's results

For the year ended March 31, 2025, the XRM Vision business contributed revenues of approximately $4,662,000 and a loss before income taxes in the amount of $2,738,000, including amortization, primarily related to the acquired customer relationships, of $712,000, share-based compensation granted on business acquisitions of $770,000 (note 14), interest accretion of $450,000 and business acquisition costs of $1,084,000 (note 20).

4. BUSINESS ACQUISITION (CONT'D)

If the acquisition had occurred on April 1, 2024, pro-forma consolidated revenues and earnings before income taxes would have been $484,523,000 and $2,723,000, respectively, for the year ended March 31, 2025. These amounts have been calculated using XRM Vision's results and adjusting for:

- differences in accounting policies between the Company and XRM Vision;
- the removal of transaction costs incurred by XRM Vision from April 1, 2024 to November 30, 2024; and
- the additional amortization that would have been charged assuming the fair value adjustments to intangibles had been applied from April 1, 2024.

As a result, an impairment charge of $1,272,000 is presented in selling, general and administrative expenses.

<sup>(b)</sup> During the year ended March 31, 2024, the Company entered into an agreement to sublease a portion of its office space to a subtenant. <sup>(a)</sup> Industry Solutions is the CGU that includes the goodwill from the acquisition of Datum Consulting Group, LLC and its international affiliates (the "Datum Acquisition") for the purpose of impairment testing.

<sup>(b)</sup> As at March 31, 2025, the XRM Vision purchase price allocation resulted in $14,662,000 of goodwill which has not yet been allocated to a CGU.

During the year, contingent consideration adjustments of $5,567,000 were recorded, related to the Datum Acquisition's potential earn-out consideration due to profitability targets not being achieved. Management concluded the profitability targets not being achieved constituted an indication of impairment. The goodwill from the Datum Acquisition was recorded in the Company's Industry Solutions cash-generating unit ("CGU").

Consequently, management performed an impairment test as at December 31, 2024 for the Industry Solutions CGU. As a result, management concluded that the recoverable amount of the Industry Solutions CGU was less than its carrying amount, resulting in an impairment of goodwill of $5,144,000.

The Company also completed annual impairment tests as at March 31, 2025 and 2024 for all its CGUs except for the XRM Vision Acquisition and concluded that no additional impairment occurred. There are no indications of impairment on the XRM Vision goodwill.

In assessing whether goodwill is impaired, the carrying amount of the CGU was compared to its recoverable amount. The recoverable amount of the CGU is based on the higher of the value in use and fair value less costs of disposal.

The recoverable amount of each CGU was determined based on the value-in-use calculations. The value-in-use calculations covered a three-year forecast, followed by an extrapolation of future expected net operating cash flows for the remaining useful lives using the long-term growth rate determined by management. The present value of the future expected operating cash flows of each CGU is determined by applying a suitable pre-tax WACC reflecting current market assessments of the time value of money and the CGU-specific risks.

	Canada	France	EPM	ERP	Industry Solutions
Pre-tax WACC	14.0	22.2	21.3	19.9	17.5

<sup>(c)</sup> The long-term growth rate is based on published industry research.

Varying the key assumptions in the values of the recoverable amount calculations, individually, as indicated below, for the years ended March 31, 2025 and 2024, assuming all other variables remain constant, would result in the recoverable amounts being equal to the carrying amounts.

11. LONG-TERM DEBT (CONT'D)

The applicable margin is determined based on certain financial ratios. As security for the Credit Facility, Alithya provided a first ranking hypothec on the universality of its assets excluding any leased equipment and Investissement Québec's first ranking lien on tax credits receivable for the financing related to refundable tax credits. Under the terms of the agreement, the Company is required to maintain certain financial covenants which are measured on a quarterly basis.

The Credit Facility matures on April 1, 2027 and is renewable for additional one-year periods at the lender's discretion, provided that the term of the Credit Facility never exceeds three years at a given time.

As at March 31, 2025, the amount outstanding under the Credit Facility includes $61,829,000 (March 31, 2024 - $71,773,000) payable in U.S. dollars (US$43,000,000; March 31, 2024 - US$53,000,000).

<sup>(b)</sup> The secured loans issued by Investissement Québec to finance the Company's 2023 refundable tax credits have been repaid in full during the year ended March 31, 2025.

<sup>(c)</sup> The subordinated unsecured loans with Investissement Québec, in the amount of $20,000,000, mature on October 1, 2026 and are renewable for one additional year at the lender's discretion. For the period up to October 1, 2025, the first $10,000,000 bears fixed interest rates ranging between 6.00% and 7.25% and the additional $10,000,000 bears interest ranging between 7.10% and 8.35%, determined and payable quarterly, based on certain financial ratios. The interest rates for the period between October 1, 2025 to October 1, 2026 will be communicated by the lender at the latest fifteen days prior to October 1, 2025. Once communicated, the Company will have the option to partially or fully repay the loans, without penalties, by October 1, 2025 at the latest.

Under the terms of the loans, the Company is required to maintain compliance with certain financial covenants which are measured on a quarterly basis.

15. COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

Contingencies

From time to time, the Company may become threatened with, or become subject to various claims and legal proceedings as part of its normal course of business. Management uses judgment to assess the potential outcome of these proceedings and estimates the provisions, with advice and information provided by its legal advisors and based on its own experience in the resolution of similar proceedings. While the final outcome thereof cannot be predicted, based on the information currently available, management believes the resolution of current pending claims and legal proceedings will not have a material impact on the Company's financial position and results of operations. Claims for which there is a probable unfavorable outcome are recorded in provisions. As a government contractor, the Company is also subject to more restrictive laws and regulations that are not applicable to non-governmental contractors. Audits and investigations by governmental agencies to monitor compliance with those laws and regulations are inherent in government contracting and, from time to time, management receives inquiries and similar demands related to the Company's ongoing business with governmental agencies. Violations could result in civil or criminal liabilities, which could be material, as well as the suspension or debarment from eligibility for awards of government contracts or option renewals.

Basic and diluted earnings (loss) per share	0.01	(0.17)

<sup>(a)</sup> The weighted average number of basic Shares calculation for the year ended March 31, 2025 exclude the impact of 1,724,553 Subordinate Voting Shares issued as part of the XRM Acquisition as they were subject to forfeitures.

For the year ended March 31, 2024, the potentially dilutive outstanding equity instruments, which are the DSUs, PSUs and options mentioned in Note 14 granted under the LTIP, certain shares to be issued as part of anniversary payments related to business acquisition, and the Subordinate Voting Shares issued as part of the XRM acquisition subject to forfeiture, were not included in the calculation of diluted earnings per share since the Company incurred losses and the inclusion of these equity instruments would have an antidilutive effect.

For the year ended March 31, 2025, the basic and diluted earnings per share are the same as the inclusion of the instruments listed above had no impact on the result.

23. SEGMENT AND GEOGRAPHICAL INFORMATION

The Company has three operating and reportable segments: Canada, U.S. and International.

The Company's chief operating decision maker assesses the performance of the reportable segments based on revenues and operating income by segment. Operating income by segment refers to operating income before head office general and administrative expenses, business acquisition, integration and reorganization costs, depreciation and amortization and foreign exchange loss (gain), which are not considered when assessing the underlying financial performance of the reportable segments as they are not directly related to the segment's operations. Head office general and administrative expenses are expenses and salaries related to centralized functions, such as global finance, legal, human capital, and technology teams, which are not allocated to segments.

The accounting policies of each reportable segment are the same as described in Note 3. The revenues and operating income by segment exclude intersegmental revenues and cost of revenues.

The following tables present the Company's operations based on reportable segments:

24. REMAINING PERFORMANCE OBLIGATIONS

Remaining performance obligations relate to the Company's performance obligations that are partially or fully unsatisfied under signed time and materials arrangements applying the Input Method and fixed-fee arrangements. When estimating minimum transaction prices allocated to the remaining unsatisfied, or partially unsatisfied, performance obligations, the Company applied the practical expedient to not disclose information about remaining performance obligations if the underlying contract has an original expected duration of one year or less and for those contracts where the Company bills the same value as that which is transferred to the customer.

The amount of the selling price allocated to remaining performance obligations as at March 31, 2025 is $71,697,000 (2024 - $80,781,000) and is expected to be recognized as revenue within a weighted average of 2.0 years (2024 - 2.7 years).

25. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

The Company's financial instruments consist of cash, accounts receivable and other receivables, other assets, accounts payable and accrued liabilities, contingent consideration and long-term debt. The Company, through its financial assets and liabilities, has exposure to the following risks from its use of financial instruments: interest rate risk, liquidity risk, credit risk and currency risk. Senior management and the Board are responsible for setting risk levels and reviewing risk management activities as they deem necessary.

Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. The Company is exposed to fluctuations in interest rates with respect to its variable rate on long-term debts. The Company's financial instruments bearing interest at variable rates are as follows:

As at	March 31,
	2025	2024
Credit Facility (note 11)	77,729	81,073
Secured loans (note 11)	—	8,537
Other debt from XRM Acquisition (note 11)	379	—
	78,108	89,610

On August 30, 2022, the Company entered into, and designated as an effective hedging instrument, an interest rate swap for a nominal amount of $30,000,000, maturing on August 30, 2025, to fix the variability in interest rates on a designated portion of borrowings under its Credit Facility. Under the interest rate swap agreement, the Company pays interest based on a fixed rate of 3.97%, and receives interest based on the actual one-month BA/CDOR rate. The fair market value of the interest rate swap agreement as at March 31, 2025 and 2024 was insignificant.

For the year ended March 31, 2025, the Company has determined that a reasonably possible increase or decrease of 100 basis points in interest rates on the above variable-rate financial liabilities would not have a significant impact on equity and profit or loss. This analysis assumes that all other variables remain constant, in particular foreign currency exchange rates. It was performed on the same basis for the year ended March 31, 2024.

25. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS (CONT'D)

Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company will encounter difficulty in meeting the obligations associated with its financial liabilities that are settled by delivering cash or another financial asset. The Company's activities are financed through a combination of cash flows from operations, borrowings under the existing Credit Facility, issuance of debt and issuance of equity instruments. In order to manage its exposure to liquidity risk, the Company's primary goal is to maintain an optimal level of liquidity through an active management of assets and liabilities as well as cash flows. The Company regularly monitors its actual and expected cashflows to ensure its maintains sufficient available liquidity to meet its obligations, while staying proactive in the management and negotiation of its borrowing facilities. Data used to monitor cashflows corresponds to the contractual maturities information presented in the tables below. The analysis shows that the Company expects sufficient cashflow for each period considered to the date of maturity of the Credit Facility. As at March 31, 2025, the Company has an unused capacity of $62,271,000 (2024 - $58,927,000) under its Credit Facility of $140,000,000, which excludes the accordion provision.

The following table summarizes the carrying amounts and the contractual maturities of both the interest and principal portions of significant financial liabilities.

Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk of loss due to a counterparty's inability to meet its obligations. As at March 31, 2025 and 2024, the Company's credit risk exposure consists mainly of the carrying amounts of cash held with major Canadian banks, accounts receivable and other receivables, unbilled revenues and other assets. The carrying amounts of financial assets and unbilled revenues represent the maximum credit exposure.

Impairment losses recognized in profit or loss were not significant in both 2025 and 2024.

The credit risk in respect of cash balances is minimal as they are held with reputable financial institutions.

With respect to trade accounts receivable, unbilled revenues and other assets, the Company's credit risk exposure is mitigated by the relative size and nature of the business carried on by such customers. Also, the Company has a large and diversified client base from clients engaged in various industries, including banks with high credit-ratings, government agencies, telecommunications and retails. Historically, the Company has not made any significant write-offs.

In order to manage its exposure to credit risk and assess credit quality, the Company established a credit policy under which collection of trade accounts receivable is a priority. Each new customer is analyzed individually for creditworthiness before the Company enters into a contract. The financial stability and liquidity of customers are assessed on a regular basis, which include the review of default risk associated with the industry in which customers operate. No significant adjustments were made to expected credit losses in connection with this assessment. The Company also limits its exposure by setting credit limits when deemed necessary.

The Company recognizes an impairment loss allowance for expected credit losses ("ECLs") on trade accounts receivable and unbilled revenues, using an estimate of credit losses. The Company establishes an impairment loss allowance on a collective and individual assessment basis, by considering its historical experience, external indicators and forward-looking information. If actual credit losses differ from estimates, future earnings would be affected. In its assessment of the impairment loss allowance, the Company considered the economic impact resulting from the changes in levels of inflation and in borrowing rates on its ECL assessment, including the risk of default of its customers given the continued economic uncertainty. As at March 31, 2025 and 2024, allowance for ECLs was not significant.

The following table provides information about the exposure to credit risk for trade accounts receivable:

As at	March 31,
	2025	2024
Current	74,097	65,907

Over 90 days	2,017	2,543
	95,093	98,346

The unbilled revenues are substantially all current in nature.

Currency risk

The Company is exposed to foreign currency risk on financial instruments denominated in currencies which are different from the respective functional currencies of the subsidiaries. The currency in which these financial instruments are mainly denominated is USD. Other currencies have no significant impact on the Company's exposure to currency risk.

The summary quantitative data about the Company's exposure to currency risk for the significant exchange rates is as follow, expressed in Canadian dollars:

As at	March 31,
	2025	2024
Cash	1,613	16
Accounts receivable and other receivables	72	901
Accounts payable and accrued liabilities	(712)	(1,865)

Balance of purchase price payable	(943)	(1,721)
Net statement of financial position exposure	14,857	(499)

The following table illustrates the sensitivity of profit and equity in regards to the Company's financial assets and financial liabilities and the USD/Canadian dollar exchange rate 'all other things being equal'. It assumes a +/-11% change of the USD/Canadian dollar exchange rate for the year ended March 31, 2025 (2024: +/-5%). This percentage has been determined based on the average market volatility of the exchange rate in the previous twelve months. The sensitivity analysis is based on the Company's foreign currency financial instruments held at each reporting date.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

Financial instruments recorded at fair value on the consolidated statements of financial position are classified using a fair value hierarchy that reflects the significance of the inputs used in making the measurements. The fair value hierarchy has the following levels:

- Level 1 - Valuation based on quoted prices observed in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.
- Level 2 - Valuation techniques based on inputs that are quoted prices of similar instruments in active markets; quoted prices for identical or similar instruments in markets that are not active; inputs other than quoted prices used in a valuation model that are observable for that instrument; and inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by observable market data by correlation or other means.
- Level 3 - Valuation techniques with significant unobservable market inputs. A financial instrument is classified at the lowest level of the hierarchy for which a significant input has been considered in measuring fair value.

The carrying amounts of cash, accounts receivable and other receivables, other assets, accounts payable and accrued liabilities and long-term debt bearing interest at variable rates is a reasonable approximation of fair value.

The contingent consideration related to the XRM Acquisition (note 4) is payable based on the achievement of growth in excess of the trailing twelve months gross margin over a consecutive 12 months period within the 18 months following the acquisition date and is included in Level 3 of the fair value hierarchy. The fair value was determined using a scenario-based method, under which the Company identifies multiple outcomes, probability-weights the contingent consideration payoff under each outcome, and discounts the result to arrive at the expected present value of the contingent consideration. The actual earn-out payout can range from nil to $10,500,000. The maximum potential impact on the results can be an increase of $5,104,000 or a decrease of $5,396,000 in earnings.

The fair value of the long-term debt bearing interest at fixed rates is estimated by discounting expected cash flows at rates that would be currently offered to the Company for debts of the same remaining maturities and conditions (level 2). For both 2025 and 2024, the Company has determined that the fair values of the Credit Facility, the secured loans, the subordinated unsecured loan and the balances of purchase price payable are not significantly different than their carrying amounts.

26. CAPITAL DISCLOSURES

The Company's capital consists of cash, long-term debt, contingent consideration and total shareholders' equity. The Company's main objectives when managing capital are:

- to provide a strong capital base in order to maintain shareholder, creditor and stakeholder confidence and to sustain future growth development of the business;
- to maintain a flexible capital structure that optimizes the cost of capital at acceptable risk and preserves the ability to meet financial obligations;
- to ensure sufficient liquidity to pursue its organic growth strategy and undertake selective acquisitions; and
- to provide a rewarding return on investment to shareholders.

In managing its capital structure, the Company monitors performance throughout the year to ensure anticipated working capital requirements and maintenance capital expenditures are funded from operations, available cash and availability under the Credit Facility. Alithya manages its capital structure and may make adjustments to it in order to support the broader corporate strategy or in response to changes in economic conditions and risk. In order to maintain or adjust its capital structure, the Company may purchase shares from existing shareholders, issue new shares, issue new debt (including issuing new debt to replace existing debt with different characteristics), or reduce the amount of existing debt.

	283,878	287,809

The Company monitors capital using a number of financial metrics, including but not limited to:

- the senior debt to Adjusted EBITDA (defined as earnings (loss) before adjusting for income tax expense (recovery), net financial expenses, foreign exchange, amortization of intangibles, depreciation of property and equipment and right-of-use assets, impairment of intangibles and goodwill, impairment of property and equipment and right-of-use assets and (gain) loss on lease termination, share-based compensation, business acquisition, integration and reorganization costs, and other non-recurring items, including severance consisting of termination and benefit costs for management personnel) ratio, defined as senior debt to 12-month trailing Adjusted EBITDA (as defined in the Credit Facility);
- the total debt to Adjusted EBITDA ratio, defined as total debt to 12-month trailing Adjusted EBITDA; and
- the fixed charge coverage ratio, defined as Adjusted EBITDA minus taxes, distributions and capital expenditures to aggregate interest expense and regular scheduled principal repayments.

The Company uses operating income, Adjusted EBITDA, Adjusted Net Earnings (defined as net earnings (loss) before adjusting for amortization of intangibles, impairment of intangibles and goodwill, impairment of property and equipment and right-of-use assets and (gain) loss on lease termination, share-based compensation, business acquisition, integration and reorganization costs, other non-recurring items, including severance consisting of termination and benefit costs for management personnel, and the income tax effects of these items) and cash flow from operations as measurements to monitor operating performance. Adjusted EBITDA, Adjusted EBITDA ratio and Adjusted Net Earnings, as presented, are not recognized for financial statement presentation purposes under IFRS, and do not have a standardized meaning. Therefore, they are not likely to be comparable to similar measures presented by other entities.

The continued availability of the Credit Facility is subject to the Company's ability to maintain certain debt service and fixed charge coverage covenants, as well as other affirmative and negative covenants, including certain limitations of distributions in the form of dividends or equity repayments in any given fiscal year, as set out in the credit agreement.

The Company is subject to financial covenants pursuant to the Credit Facility agreement, which are measured on a quarterly basis. The covenants are senior debt to Adjusted EBITDA, total debt to Adjusted EBITDA and fixed charge coverage ratios. The Company was in compliance with all such covenants at March 31, 2025 and 2024.

Competitive Environment

Digital systems and infrastructures have become indispensable strategic assets for businesses. These assets require continuous investment and increasingly serve as crucial drivers of growth and differentiation, especially in delivering customer focused solutions.

As a result, businesses increasingly seek solutions that support business processes and enable product and service customization. This imperative drives digital transformation efforts, pushing businesses to move beyond traditional IT systems toward adaptive, AI-enabled, and cloud-based digital technologies that offer agility, scalability, and innovation at speed.

As businesses' technology spending continues to increase, digital technology firms such as Alithya are focused on delivering not just innovation, but measurable outcomes through industry specialization and AI-enabled Alithya positions itself as an agile trusted advisor and partner capable of delivering rapid results for its clients.

Alithya's competitors in each of its operating and reportable segments include systems integration firms, application software companies, cloud computing service providers, large or traditional consulting firms, professional services groups of computer equipment companies, infrastructure management and outsourcing companies and boutique digital companies. In addition, Alithya competes with numerous smaller local companies in the various geographic markets in which it operates.

Alithya competes based on the following principal differentiating factors: vision and strategic advisory ability, digital services capabilities, performance and reliability, quality of technical support, training and services, global presence, responsiveness to client needs, reputation and experience, financial stability, strong corporate governance and competitive pricing of services.

Alithya also relies on the following measures to compete effectively: (a) investments to scale its services practice areas; (b) a well-developed recruiting, training and retention model; (c) a successful service delivery model; (d) intrapreneurial culture and approach; (e) a broad referral base; (f) continual investment in process improvement and knowledge capture; (g) investment in infrastructure and research and development; (h) continued focus on responsiveness to client needs, quality of services and competitive prices; and (i) project management capabilities and technical expertise.

4. Strategic Business Plan

Alithya is on a journey to be recognized as the trusted technology advisor of its clients. By the end of the fiscal year ending March 31, 2027, management believes that the achievement of its new scale and scope would allow it to leverage its industry knowledge, geographic presence and global delivery model, expertise, integrated offerings, and its position on the value chain to target higher value IT segments.

Alithya aligns its offerings with the most pressing challenges being experienced within the sectors that it services, and in its ability to continuously reinforce the building blocks of trusted relationships with its clients, its people, its investors, and its partners. To ensure that it remains innovative and relevant, Alithya strives to meet or exceed the expectations of its stakeholders, including optimizing employee experiences, assisting its clients in achieving their missions, and creating greater value for its investors.

More specifically, Alithya has developed a three-year strategic plan, keeping in mind its stakeholders' interests, which focuses on:

- Increasing scale through organic growth and strategic acquisitions:
  - Organic Growth: Alithya aims to focus on profitable organic growth through innovation, higher-value offerings and client relationships based on trust.
  - Acquisitions: Alithya plans to acquire businesses to complement its current market presence as part of its North American and international expansion, while progressively adding major integrated enterprise solutions capabilities and selected specialized expertise, and increasing its smart shoring presence.
  - AI and IP Solutions: Alithya intends to increase the utilization of its AI and intellectual property solutions to accelerate operational efficiencies in our service delivery.
- Providing investors, partners and stakeholders with long-term growing return on investment:
  - Profitability: Alithya plans to increase its Adjusted EBITDA Margin<sup>(1)</sup>.
  - Smart shoring centers: Alithya aims to increase the percentage of its services delivered from smart shoring centers accessing larger, cost-competitive talent pools.

Given ongoing economic and geopolitical uncertainty in the North American market, Alithya has decided to withdraw its previously disclosed quantitative objectives. While Alithya has not been directly impacted by such uncertainty during the quarter, there is no assurance that its clients will not and that, if they are, it will not affect their IT spending and how they have historically conducted business with Alithya. As such, management deems it more prudent to withdraw its objectives. Despite this, management remains confident that Alithya will be able to adapt effectively to changes in the macroeconomic environment, is well positioned and will continue to face opportunities to deliver value-added services to clients, driving organic growth and growing profitability over the long-term.

<sup>1</sup> This is a non-IFRS financial measure. Refer to section 5 titled "Non-IFRS and Other Financial Measures" for an explanation of the composition and usefulness of this non-IFRS financial measure and to section 8.8 titled "EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA" for a quantitative reconciliation of the Adjusted EBITDA for the years ended March 31, 2025 and 2024 to their most directly comparable IFRS measure.

5. Non-IFRS and Other Financial Measures

Alithya reports its financial results in accordance with IFRS. This MD&A includes certain non-IFRS and supplementary financial measures and ratios to assess Alithya's financial performance. These measures are provided as additional information to complement IFRS measures by providing further understanding of Alithya's results of operations from management's perspective. They do not have any standardized meaning prescribed by IFRS and are therefore unlikely to be comparable to similar measures presented by other companies. They should be considered as supplemental in nature and not as a substitute for the related financial information prepared in accordance with IFRS. They are used to provide investors with additional insight into Alithya's operating performance and thus highlight trends in Alithya's business that may not otherwise be apparent when relying solely on IFRS measures.

The non-IFRS measures used by Alithya are described below:

EBITDA and EBITDA Margin

"EBITDA" refers to net earnings (loss) before adjusting for income tax expense (recovery), net financial expenses, amortization of intangibles and depreciation of property and equipment and right-of-use assets.

"EBITDA Margin" refers to the percentage of total revenue that EBITDA represents for a given period.

Management believes that EBITDA and EBITDA Margin are useful measures for investors as they provide an indication of the results generated by Alithya's main business activities prior to taking into consideration how those activities are financed and taxed and also prior to taking into consideration non-cash depreciation and amortization. For a reconciliation of net earnings (loss) to EBITDA, see section 8.8 titled "EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA".

Adjusted Net Earnings and Adjusted Net Earnings per Share

"Adjusted Net Earnings" refers to net earnings (loss) before adjusting for amortization of intangibles, impairment of intangibles and goodwill, impairment of property and equipment and right-of-use assets and (gain) loss on lease termination, share-based compensation, business acquisition, integration and reorganization costs, other non-recurring items, including severance consisting of termination and benefit costs for management personnel, and the income tax effects of these items.

"Adjusted Net Earnings per Share" is calculated by dividing Adjusted Net Earnings by the weighted average number of outstanding Class A Subordinate Voting Shares ("Subordinate Voting Shares") and Class B Multiple Voting Shares ("Multiple Voting Shares"), during the period.

Management believes that Adjusted Net Earnings and Adjusted Net Earnings per Share are useful measures for investors as they allow comparability of the financial performance of operating activities from one period to another, prior to taking into consideration non-cash items, business acquisition, integration and reorganization costs, and severance consisting of termination and benefit costs for management personnel, which can vary significantly from period to period. These measures provide an indication of the results generated by Alithya's main business activities prior to taking into consideration the non-cash and other items listed above which have resulted primarily from acquisitions and their subsequent integrations. For a reconciliation of net earnings (loss) to Adjusted Net Earnings, see section 8.6 titled "Adjusted Net Earnings and Adjusted Net Earnings per Share".

Adjusted EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA Margin

“Adjusted EBITDA” refers to net earnings (loss) before adjusting for income tax expense (recovery), net financial expenses, foreign exchange, amortization of intangibles, depreciation of property and equipment and right-of-use assets, impairment of intangibles and goodwill, impairment of property and equipment and right-of-use assets and (gain) loss on lease termination, share-based compensation, business acquisition, integration and reorganization costs, and other non-recurring items, including severance consisting of termination and benefit costs for management personnel.

“Adjusted EBITDA Margin” refers to the percentage of total revenue that Adjusted EBITDA represents for a given period.

Management believes that Adjusted EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA Margin are useful measures for investors as they allow comparability of the financial performance of operating activities from one period to another. These measures provide an indication of the results generated by Alithya’s main business activities prior to taking into consideration how those activities are financed and taxed and also prior to taking into consideration the non-cash and other items listed above. For a reconciliation of net earnings (loss) to Adjusted EBITDA, see section 8.8 titled “EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA”.

Constant Dollar Revenue and Constant Dollar Growth

“Constant Dollar Revenue” is a measure of revenue and revenue by geographic location before foreign currency translation impacts. This measure is calculated by translating current period revenue and revenue by geographic location in local currency using the exchange rates in the equivalent period from the prior year.

“Constant Dollar Growth” is a measure of revenue growth and revenue growth by geographic location, expressed as a percentage, before foreign currency translation impacts. This measure is calculated by dividing Constant Dollar Revenue as described above with prior period revenue.

Management believes that Constant Dollar Revenue and Constant Dollar Growth are useful measures for investors as they allow revenue to be adjusted to exclude the impact of currency fluctuations to facilitate period-to-period comparisons of business performance. For a reconciliation of revenues to Constant Dollar Revenue by geographic location, see section 8.1 titled “Revenues”.

Net Debt

“Net Debt” refers to long-term debt, including the current portion, less cash. For the calculation of Net Debt, see section 11.6 titled “Long-Term Debt and Net Debt”. Management believes that Net Debt is a useful measure for investors as it provides an indication of the liquidity of the Company.

Other Financial Measures

The other financial measures used by Alithya are described below:

“Gross Margin as a Percentage of Revenues” is calculated by dividing gross margin by revenues.

“Selling, General and Administrative Expenses as a Percentage of Revenues” is calculated by dividing selling, general and administrative expenses by revenues.

“Bookings” refers to the amount of signed revenue agreements during the period, which includes new contracts, including those acquired subsequent to the closing date of acquisitions, as well as renewals, extensions and changes to existing contracts. Management believes information regarding bookings can provide useful trend insight to investors regarding changes in the volume of new business over time.

“Book-to-Bill Ratio” is calculated by dividing Bookings by revenues, for the same period. Management believes this measure allows for the monitoring of the Company’s backlog and offers useful insight to investors on how the business varies and evolves over time. This measure is best used over a long period as it could fluctuate significantly from one quarter to the other.

“Backlog” refers to the amount of future revenue stemming from signed revenue agreements, which includes new contracts, including those acquired through acquisitions, as well as renewals, extensions and changes to existing contracts, including reductions in contractual commitments and contract terminations, expressed as a number of months of trailing twelve-month revenue, as at a given date. Backlog differs from the IFRS definition of remaining performance obligations, as disclosed in the Company’s consolidated financial statements, as backlog also includes time and materials arrangements in which contractual billings correspond with the value of the services provided to the client and contracts with original expected durations under one year. Management believes that backlog information can provide useful trend insight to investors regarding changes in management’s best estimate of future revenue stemming from signed revenue agreements.

“Days Sales Outstanding” (“DSO”) refers to the average number of days it takes for the Company to convert its accounts receivable and other receivables (net of sales taxes) and unbilled revenues, less deferred revenues, into cash. Management believes this measure provides useful insight to investors regarding the Company’s liquidity.

7. Business Combinations

XRM Vision

Overview

On December 1, 2024, the Company acquired all of the issued and outstanding shares of Canadian-based XRM Vision Inc. and all of its affiliates ("XRM Vision") (the "XRM Acquisition"), a recognized Microsoft partner. Management expects that XRM Vision's expertise will complement its existing business and will reinforce Alithya's smart shoring capabilities.

The XRM Acquisition was completed for total consideration of up to $34,384,000, in aggregate.

The total purchase consideration of up to $30,009,000 consisted of: (i) $7,377,000 paid in cash at closing; (ii) final working capital adjustment of $632,000, included in accounts payable and accrued liabilities as at March 31, 2025; (iii) $2,875,000 paid by the issuance of 1,724,550 Subordinate Voting Shares; (iv) $8,625,000 of balance of sale, payable over three years on December 1, 2025, 2026 and 2027 (the "Anniversary Dates"); and (v) potential earn-out consideration of up to $10,500,000, including $9,000,000 payable in cash and $1,500,000 by the issuance of Subordinate Voting Shares.

The total other consideration of $4,375,000 consisted of: (i) 1,724,553 Subordinate Voting Shares, with a fair value of $2,875,000, issued at closing; and (ii) Subordinate Voting Shares with a value of up to $1,500,000 which may be issued as part of the earn-out consideration. These Subordinate Voting Shares issued and/or issuable are subject to claw-back clauses based on continued employment and accordingly, these share considerations are recognized as share-based compensation granted on business acquisition over three years.

The number of Subordinate Voting Shares issuable as part of the earn-out will be determined by dividing the earn-out amount payable in Subordinate Voting Shares by the Volume Weighted Average Price ("VWAP") for the 15 trading days ending on and including the date that is 2 business days prior to the payment date of the earn-out. The settlement of the earn-out will be due after the 18 months following closing, once the earn-out consideration has been finalized.

The total earn-out consideration of $12,000,000, in aggregate, is contingent upon the future financial performance of the acquired business over a consecutive 12-month period within the 18 months following the acquisition date. The undiscounted scenario-based weighted average expected payout amount for the total potential earn-out consideration is $7,260,000.

The fair value of the earn-out purchase price consideration of $5,104,000 is classified as a financial liability recorded at fair value through profit and loss and comprised an undiscounted scenario-based weighted average expected payout amount for the potential earn-out consideration included in the purchase consideration of $6,353,000. The contingent consideration liability included in the purchase price is included in Level 3 of the fair value hierarchy and will be remeasured at fair value at each reporting date. The fair value was determined using a scenario-based method, under which the Company identifies multiple outcomes, probability-weights the contingent consideration payoff under each outcome, and discounts the result to arrive at the expected present value of the contingent consideration. At acquisition date, the discount rate used was 15.7%. Subsequent changes to the fair value of contingent consideration liability included in the purchase price will be recorded to business acquisition, integration and reorganization costs. There were no substantive changes to the contingent consideration liability as at March 31, 2025.

As part of the XRM Acquisition, the Company assumed $829,000 of long-term debt of which an amount of $333,000 was repaid immediately upon closing.

For the year ended March 31, 2025, the Company incurred acquisition-related costs pertaining to the XRM Acquisition of approximately $1,084,000. These costs have been recorded in the consolidated statement of operations in business acquisition, integration and reorganization costs.

Please refer to Note 4 of the Q4 Financial Statements for additional details regarding the XRM Acquisition, all of which are hereby incorporated by reference.

eVerge

On May 31, 2025, the Company acquired all of the issued and outstanding shares of U.S. based eVerge Interests Inc. and its subsidiaries ("eVerge"), a group specialized in enterprise applications and transformation services. Management expects that eVerge's expertise will complement its existing business and will reinforce Alithya's smart shoring capabilities.

The acquisition of eVerge was completed for total consideration of US$23,500,000 ($32,292,000), all payable in cash. The total purchase consideration consists of: (i) US$18,800,000 ($25,834,000) payable in three installments, 60% at closing and 20% payable on each of May 31, 2026 and 2027 (each an "Anniversary Date"); and (ii) a potential earn-out consideration of US$4,700,000 ($6,458,000), subject to certain post-closing conditions, payable in two installments (50% within 90 days of the first Anniversary Date and 50% on the second Anniversary Date).

<sup>2</sup> Constant Dollar Growth, which is a Non-IFRS measure. See section 5 titled "Non-IFRS and Other Financial Measures" for an explanation of the composition and usefulness of this non-IFRS financial measure.

Revenues amounted to $125.3 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, representing an increase of $4.8 million, or 4.0%, from $120.5 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024. On a sequential basis, revenues, including constant dollar revenue, increased in all segments of the business, and by $9.5 million in aggregate, or 8.3%, from the third quarter of this year.

Revenues in Canada increased by $0.8 million, or 1.3%, to $65.4 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, from $64.6 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024. The increase in revenues was due primarily to a recovery in the banking sector, revenues from XRM Vision since the acquisition, and one additional billable day compared to the same quarter last year, partially offset by one client's major transformation project reaching maturity and a reduction in revenues from certain government contracts. On a sequential basis, revenues increased by $3.7 million in aggregate, or 6.1%, from the third quarter of this year.

U.S. revenues increased by $3.8 million, or 7.3%, to $54.2 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, from $50.4 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024, due primarily to organic growth in enterprise transformation services and support revenues, and a favorable US$ exchange rate impact of $3.3 million between the two periods. On a sequential basis, revenues increased by $5.4 million, and $3.3 million in constant dollar revenue, from the third quarter of this year.

International revenues increased by $0.2 million, or 4.5%, to $5.7 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, from $5.5 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024.

Revenues amounted to $473.5 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, representing a decrease of $17.6 million, or 3.6%, from $491.1 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024.

Revenues in Canada decreased by $25.6 million, or 9.2%, to $251.9 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, from $277.5 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024. The decrease in revenues was due primarily to one client's major transformation project reaching maturity and a reduction in revenues from a few government contracts, partially offset by organic growth in certain areas of the business, a recovery in the banking sector, and revenues from XRM Vision since the acquisition.

U.S. revenues increased by $8.0 million, or 4.2%, to $200.5 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, from $192.5 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024, due primarily to increased support revenues and a favorable US$ exchange rate impact of $6.2 million between the two periods, partially offset by a decrease in digital adoption subscription revenues.

International revenues amounted to $21.1 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025 and 2024.

8.2 Gross Margin

Gross margin increased by $7.4 million, or 19.0%, to $46.1 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, from $38.7 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024. Gross margin as a percentage of revenues increased to 36.8% for the three months ended March 31, 2025, from 32.1% for the three months ended March 31, 2024, due primarily to increased efficiencies, the continued evolution towards a higher value-added business mix, and a $1.0 million tax credit recovery from a previous acquisition. On a sequential basis, gross margin as a percentage of revenues increased from 32.3% for the third quarter of this year, with all segments of the business contributing to this increase.

In Canada, gross margin as a percentage of revenues increased, compared to the same quarter last year, mainly due to increased efficiencies and higher hourly billing rates, as a result of providing a greater proportion of higher-value services, a proportionally larger decrease in the use of subcontractors compared to permanent employees, a positive margin contribution from XRM Vision since the acquisition, and a $1.0 million tax credit recovery from a previous acquisition.

In the U.S., gross margin as a percentage of revenues increased compared to the same quarter last year, primarily due to higher hourly billing rates, increased efficiencies, and improved project performance, partially offset by lower digital adoption subscription revenues, which historically had a higher gross margin as a percentage of revenues.

International gross margin as a percentage of revenues increased compared to the same quarter last year, mainly due to higher utilization and improved project performance in the UK.

Gross margin increased by $6.8 million, or 4.6%, to $156.1 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, from $149.3 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024. Gross margin as a percentage of revenues increased to 33.0% for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, from 30.4% for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024.

In Canada, gross margin as a percentage of revenues increased for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, compared to the same period last year, mainly due to increased efficiencies and hourly billing rates, as a result of providing a greater proportion of higher-value services, a proportionally larger decrease in the use of subcontractors compared to permanent employees, a positive margin contribution from XRM Vision since the acquisition, and a $1.0 million tax credit recovery from a previous acquisition.

In the U.S., gross margin as a percentage of revenues remained steady for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, compared to the same period last year, as higher hourly billing rates and increased efficiencies were partially offset by a decrease in digital adoption subscription revenues, which historically had a higher gross margin as a percentage of revenues.

International gross margin as a percentage of revenues decreased for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, compared to the same period last year, mainly due to lower utilization and reduced activities in the UK, which historically had a higher gross margin.

8.3 Operating Expense

8.3.1 Selling, General and Administrative Expenses

Selling, general and administrative expenses include salary, wages and other benefits for selling and administrative employees, occupancy costs, information technology and communications costs, share-based compensation, professional fees, public listing and investor fees, and other administrative expenses.

Selling, general and administrative expenses totaled $29.7 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, representing an increase of $0.1 million, or 0.4%, from $29.6 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024. Selling, general and administrative expenses as a percentage of revenues amounted to 23.7% for the three months ended March 31, 2025, compared to 24.6% for the same period last year. The increase in selling, general and administrative expenses was driven mainly by an increase in employee compensation costs, resulting primarily from variable compensation and XRM Vision expenses since the acquisition, partially offset by decreases in professional fees, business development costs, information technology and communications costs, occupancy costs, and recruiting fees.

In Canada, expenses decreased by $0.2 million, or 1.2%, to $16.0 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, from $16.2 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024, due primarily to decreases in professional fees, business development costs, occupancy costs, and insurance costs, partially offset by increased employee compensation costs, resulting primarily from variable compensation and XRM Vision expenses since the acquisition.

U.S. expenses decreased by $0.1 million, or 1.3%, to $12.0 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, from $12.1 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024, due to decreased employee compensation costs, information technology and communications costs, business development costs and recruiting fees. The decreased expenses include an unfavorable US$ exchange rate impact of $0.7 million.

International expenses increased by $0.5 million, or 37.3% to $1.8 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, from $1.3 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024. An increase in employee compensation costs was partially offset by decreases in professional fees and other expenses.

Selling, general and administrative expenses totaled $116.1 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, representing a decrease of $5.5 million, or 4.5%, from $121.6 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024. Selling, general and administrative expenses as a percentage of revenues amounted to 24.5% for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, compared to 24.8% for the same period last year. The decrease in selling, general and administrative expenses was driven mainly by a decrease of $1.5 million in impairment of property and equipment and right-of-use assets, stemming from impairment charges last year as part of Alithya's review of its real estate strategy following the integration of acquisitions and changes in working conditions in order to reduce the Company's footprint and realize synergies, and decreased professional fees, occupancy costs, non-cash share-based compensation, business development costs, recruiting fees, information technology and communications costs, and travel costs, partially offset by increased employee compensation costs, resulting primarily from variable compensation, $2.1 million of severance consisting of termination and benefit costs for management personnel in the first quarter and fourth quarters, and XRM Vision expenses since the acquisition.

Expenses in Canada decreased by $4.5 million, or 6.8%, to $61.4 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, from $65.9 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024, due primarily to a decrease of $1.5 million in impairment of property and equipment and right-of-use assets, as discussed above, and decreased occupancy costs, professional fees, non-cash share-based compensation, business development costs, and recruiting fees, partially offset by increased employee compensation costs, resulting primarily from variable compensation, severance consisting of termination and benefit costs for key management personnel in the first quarter, and XRM Vision expenses since the acquisition.

The decreased expenses include an unfavorable US$ exchange rate impact of $1.5 million.

International expenses increased by $0.8 million, or 14.1%, to $6.1 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, from $5.3 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024, mainly due to an increase in employee compensation costs, resulting from severance consisting of termination and benefit costs for management personnel in the fourth quarter, partially offset by decreases in professional fees and other expenses.

8.3.2 Share-Based Compensation

Share-based compensation is included in cost of revenues and selling, general and administrative expenses and is detailed in the table below:

(in $ thousands)	For the three months ended March 31,		For the year ended March 31,
	2025	2024	2025	2024

	915	1,226	5,343	6,257

Share-based compensation amounted to $0.9 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, representing a decrease of $0.3 million, from $1.2 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024. The decrease in share-based compensation was driven primarily by decreased PSU expenses resulting from a recovery of expenses following management's review of assumptions related to the achievement of performance vesting conditions and decreased stock options expense, partially offset by increased expenses related to share-based compensation granted on a previous business acquisition, RSUs, and DSUs.

Share-based compensation amounted to $5.3 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, representing a decrease of $1.0 million, from $6.3 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024. The decrease in share-based compensation was driven primarily by decreased PSU expenses resulting from a recovery of expenses following management's review of assumptions related to the achievement of performance vesting conditions, reversals of share-based compensation expense for forfeited equity instruments, decreased expenses related to share-based compensation granted on a previous business acquisition, and decreased stock options expense, partially offset by increased expenses related to RSUs and DSUs.

Business acquisition, integration and reorganization recovery amounted to $1.3 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, representing a decrease of $0.1 million, from a $1.4 million recovery for the three months ended March 31, 2024. The decreased recovery was driven primarily by a $1.0 million decrease in the contingent consideration adjustment related to the earn-out consideration from the acquisition of Datum Consulting Group, LLC and its international affiliates (the "Datum Acquisition") on July 1, 2022, a $0.3 million increase in integration costs, consisting mainly of transition costs related to system integrations and lease termination costs for vacated premises, and a $0.2 million increase in acquisition costs, partially offset by a $1.4 million decrease in reorganization costs, mainly due to lower severance payments from workforce reductions.

Business acquisition, integration and reorganization recovery amounted to $1.2 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, representing a decrease in costs of $4.6 million, from $3.4 million of expenses for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024. The decreased costs were driven primarily by a $3.1 million decrease in reorganization costs, mainly related to severance payments from workforce reductions, an increased recovery of $1.8 million from the contingent consideration adjustment related to the earn-out consideration from the Datum Acquisition, a $0.5 million decrease in integration costs due to retention compensation related to a previous business acquisition and lease termination costs for vacated premises in the previous year, and a $0.2 million decrease in employee compensation on business acquisition, partially offset by an increase of $1.0 million in acquisition costs related to the XRM Acquisition.

8.3.4 Depreciation

Depreciation totaled $1.2 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, compared to $1.3 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024.

Depreciation totaled $4.5 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, compared to $5.9 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024. These costs consisted primarily of depreciation of Alithya's property and equipment, which decreased by $1.3 million.

Amortization of intangibles totaled $18.9 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, compared to $23.1 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024. These costs consisted primarily of amortization of customer relationships recognized on acquisitions, which decreased by $3.3 million, as certain intangibles were fully amortized, and amortization of software, which decreased by $0.6 million.

8.3.6 Impairment of Goodwill

An impairment loss of $5.1 million was recognized during the year on goodwill from the Datum Acquisition.

The carrying amounts of the Company's goodwill are reviewed for impairment when events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying value may be impaired. At each reporting date, the Company assesses whether there is any indication of impairment. During the year, contingent consideration adjustments of $5.6 million were recorded, related to the Datum Acquisition's potential earn-out consideration due to profitability targets not being achieved. Management concluded the profitability targets not being achieved constituted an indication of impairment.

For more details on impairment testing of goodwill, refer to Note 9 of the Company's annual consolidated financial statements.

8.3.7 Foreign Exchange (Gain) Loss

Foreign exchange loss amounted to $0.2 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025 and 2024.

Net financial expenses amounted to $2.6 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, representing an increase of $0.3 million, or 16.6%, from $2.3 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024, driven mainly by increased interest accretion on balance of purchase price payable and financing fees, and decreased interest income, partially offset by decreased variable interests rates and a lower volume of interest-bearing debt, which accounted for the decrease in interest on long-term debt.

Net financial expenses amounted to $8.9 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, representing a decrease of $3.0 million, or 25.1%, from $11.9 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024, driven mainly by decreased variable interest rates, a lower volume of interest-bearing debt, and an adjustment related to a prior period, all of which accounted for the decrease in interest on long-term debt, and decreases in interest on lease liabilities and amortization of finance costs, partially offset by increased financing fees and interest accretion on balance of purchase price payable, and decreased interest income.

8.4.2 Income Taxes

Income tax expense amounted to $0.8 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, representing an increase of $1.1 million, from a recovery of $0.3 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024, due to an increase in current income tax expense, as a result of increased taxable income in certain jurisdictions, and an increase in deferred tax expense, as a result of increased taxable income in certain entities for which deferred tax assets were previously recognized. Certain entities of the Group, with a history of losses, do not recognize deferred tax assets related to their loss in the period.

Income tax expense amounted to $2.8 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, representing an increase of $2.7 million, from $0.1 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024, due to an increase in current tax expense, as a result of increased taxable income in certain jurisdictions, and an increase in deferred tax expense, as a result of increased taxable income in certain entities for which deferred tax assets were previously recognized. Certain entities of the Group, with a history of losses, do not recognize deferred tax assets related to their loss in the period.

8.5 Net Earnings (Loss) and Earnings (Loss) per Share

Net earnings for the three months ended March 31, 2025 were $8.0 million, representing an increase of $5.7 million, from $2.3 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024. The increased earnings were driven primarily by the increased gross margin, due to higher efficiencies and a $1.0 million tax credit recovery from a previous acquisition, and decreased depreciation of property and equipment, partially offset by increased selling, general and administrative expenses, decreased business acquisition, integration and reorganization recovery, increased net financial expenses, and increased income tax expense for the three months ended March 31, 2025, compared to the three months ended March 31, 2024. On a per share basis, this translated into basic and diluted earnings per share of $0.08 for the three months ended March 31, 2025, compared to $0.02 per share for the three months ended March 31, 2024.

Net earnings for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025 were $1.3 million, representing an increase of $18.0 million, from a net loss of $16.7 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024. The increased earnings were driven by the increased gross margin, due to higher efficiencies and a $1.0 million tax credit recovery from a previous acquisition, decreased selling, general and administrative expenses, including a $1.3 million reduction in expenses mainly related to impairment of property and equipment and right-of-use assets in the first quarter of last year, decreased business acquisition, integration and reorganization costs, resulting primarily from an increased recovery of $1.8 million from the contingent consideration adjustment related to the earn-out consideration from the Datum Acquisition which was partially offset by an increase of $1.0 million in acquisition costs related to the XRM Acquisition, decreased amortization of intangibles and depreciation of property and equipment, increased foreign exchange gain, and decreased net financial expenses, partially offset by the $5.1 million impairment of goodwill and increased income tax expense for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, compared to the twelve months ended March 31, 2024. On a per share basis, this translated into basic and diluted earnings per share of $0.01 for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, compared to a basic and diluted net loss of $0.17 per share for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024.

8.6 Adjusted Net Earnings and Adjusted Net Earnings per Share

The following table reconciles net earnings (loss) to Adjusted Net Earnings:

Adjusted Net Earnings amounted to $12.2 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, representing an increase of $6.1 million, or 101.9%, from $6.1 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024. As explained above, increased gross margin, driven by higher efficiencies and a $1.0 million tax credit recovery from a previous acquisition, and decreased depreciation were partially offset by increased selling, general and administrative expenses, increased foreign exchange loss, increased net financial expenses, and increased income tax expense. This translated into Adjusted Net Earnings per Share of $0.12 for the three months ended March 31, 2025, compared to $0.06 for the three months ended March 31, 2024.

Adjusted Net Earnings amounted to $28.1 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, representing an increase of $14.5 million, or 106.9%, from $13.6 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024. As explained above, increased gross margin driven by higher efficiencies and a $1.0 million tax credit recovery from a previous acquisition, decreased selling, general and administrative expenses, decreased depreciation, increased foreign exchange gain, and decreased net financial expenses were partially offset by increased income tax expense. This translated into Adjusted Net Earnings per Share of $0.29 for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, compared to $0.14 for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024.

8.7 Segment Reporting

Operating income by segment refers to operating income before head office general and administrative expenses, business acquisition, integration and reorganization costs, depreciation and amortization and foreign exchange loss (gain), which are not considered when assessing the underlying financial performance of the reportable segments as they are not directly related to the segment's operations. Head office general and administrative expenses are expenses and salaries related to centralized functions, such as global finance, legal, human capital, and technology teams, which are not allocated to segments.

The following tables present the Company's operations based on reportable segments:

For a discussion of revenue variances by segment, refer to section 8.1 titled “Revenues”.

Operating income by segment in Canada increased by $4.9 million, or 61.9%, to $12.9 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, from $8.0 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024, due to decreased employee compensation and subcontractor costs on increased revenues, mainly due to increased efficiencies, a positive margin contribution from XRM Vision since the acquisition, and a $1.0 million tax credit recovery from a previous acquisition, offset by lower tax credits compared to the fourth quarter of last year.

Operating income by segment in the U.S. increased by $3.5 million, or 34.8%, to $13.8 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, from $10.3 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024, primarily due to increased revenues, increased efficiencies, and improved project performance, partially offset by lower digital adoption subscription revenues, which historically had a higher contribution.

Operating income for the international segment decreased by $0.3 million, or 33.8%, to $0.5 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, from $0.8 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024, primarily due to decreased tax credits and increased licenses and telecommunication and other expenses.

Operating income by segment in Canada increased by $7.4 million, or 22.6%, to $40.3 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, from $32.9 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024, primarily due to decreased employee compensation and subcontractor costs, decreased other expenses, and a $1.0 million tax credit recovery from a previous acquisition, partially offset by decreased revenues.

Operating income by segment in the U.S. increased by $6.9 million, or 20.9%, to $39.7 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, from $32.8 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024, primarily due to increased revenues, increased efficiencies, and improved project performance, partially offset by lower digital adoption subscription revenues, which historically had a higher contribution.

EBITDA amounted to $17.5 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, representing an increase of $7.1 million, or 68.1%, from $10.4 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024. EBITDA Margin was 14.0% for the three months ended March 31, 2025, compared to 8.6% for the three months ended March 31, 2024.

Adjusted EBITDA amounted to $18.0 million for the three months ended March 31, 2025, representing an increase of $7.5 million, or 71.8%, from $10.5 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024. As explained above, increased gross margin, driven by higher revenues and higher gross margin as a percentage of revenues, was partially offset by increased selling, general and administrative expenses. Adjusted EBITDA

Margin was 14.4% for the three months ended March 31, 2025, compared to 8.7% for the three months ended March 31, 2024.

EBITDA amounted to $36.4 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, representing an increase of $12.1 million, or 50.0%, from $24.3 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024. As explained above, increased gross margin, driven by higher gross margin as a percentage of revenues, was complemented by decreased selling, general and administrative expenses. Adjusted EBITDA Margin was 10.1% for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, compared to 7.2% for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024.

9. Bookings and Backlog

Bookings during the three months ended March 31, 2025 were $100.1 million, which translated into a Book-to-Bill Ratio of 0.80 for the quarter, compared to Bookings of $133.9 million and a Book-to-Bill Ratio of 1.11 for the same quarter last year. The Book-to-Bill Ratio would have been 0.89 if revenues from the two long-term contracts signed as part of an acquisition in the first quarter of fiscal year 2022 were excluded, compared to 1.27 for the same quarter last year. Bookings are affected by customer investment cycles and current economic conditions, causing some buyer hesitancy and longer sales cycles.

For the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, Bookings were $420.7 million, which translated into a Book-to-Bill ratio of 0.89, compared to Bookings of $480.5 million and a Book-to-Bill Ratio of 0.98 last year. The Book-to-Bill Ratio would have been 1.00 if revenues from the two long-term contracts signed as part of an acquisition in the first quarter of fiscal year 2022 were excluded, compared to 1.13 last year. Bookings are affected by customer investment cycles and current economic conditions, causing some buyer hesitancy and longer sales cycles.

Management believes information regarding Bookings can provide useful trend insight to investors regarding changes in the volume of new business over time. However, contracts typically provide termination clauses at the option of the customer. Furthermore, modifications of the scope of work and demand-driven usage may occur. As such, the amount of the contract actually realized could materially differ from the initial Bookings.

As at March 31, 2025 and 2024, Backlog represented approximately 16 months of trailing twelve-month revenues. The Backlog includes revenue agreements for projects which may extend beyond twelve months.

Management believes that Backlog information can provide useful trend insight to investors regarding changes in management's best estimate of future revenues stemming from signed revenue agreements. However, contracts typically provide termination clauses at the option of the customer. Furthermore, modifications of the scope of work and demand-driven usage may occur. There can also be no assurance that subsequent cancellations or scope adjustments will not occur, that the Backlog will ultimately result in earnings, or when the related revenues and earnings from such Backlog will be recognized. As such, the amount of the contract actually realized could materially differ from the amount included in Backlog at a given date.

10. Financial Position

As at (in $ thousands)	March 31,
	2025	2024
Current assets	145,705	139,615
Non-current assets	280,275	276,882
Total Assets	425,980	416,497

Shareholders' equity	184,556	175,204
Total Liabilities and Shareholders' Equity	425,980	416,497

For the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, total assets and total liabilities and shareholders' equity were $426.0 million, representing an increase of $9.5 million, or 2.3%, from $416.5 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024.

The $9.5 million increase in total assets was due primarily to increases of $14.7 million in goodwill from the XRM acquisition, $7.1 million in cash, and $1.6 million in prepaids, mainly due to an increase in annual subscriptions compared to monthly subscriptions, partially offset by a decrease of $6.8 million in intangibles mainly due to amortization and a foreign exchange rate impact, partially offset by $9.7 million of intangibles from the XRM Acquisition, and a $3.5 million decrease in accounts receivable and other receivables, despite an increase in revenues for the three months ended March 31, 2025 and the addition of accounts receivable and other receivables from the XRM acquisition, compared to the three months ended March 31, 2024, mainly due to improved project performance and DSO.

For a discussion of the variance in cash, including the cash impact of the various assets and liabilities on the balance sheet, refer to section 11 titled "Liquidity and Capital Resources".

The increase in total liabilities and shareholders' equity of $9.5 million consisted of a $9.4 million increase in equity<sup>(1)</sup> and a $0.1 million increase in liabilities. The increase in total liabilities was due primarily to increases of $6.0 million in accounts payable and accrued liabilities, mainly due to higher accrued variable compensation resulting from improved business performance and accounts payable and accrued liabilities assumed from the XRM acquisition, partially offset by lower consumption taxes payable due to timing, $3.1 million in deferred tax liabilities mainly caused by differences related to intangibles and goodwill on business acquisition partially offset by recognized earnings, and $1.3 million in contingent consideration, consisting of $5.4 million from the XRM acquisition, partially offset by a contingent consideration adjustment of $4.3 million related to the earn-out consideration from the Datum Acquisition and a $0.2 million foreign exchange rate impact. The increased liabilities were partially offset by decreases of $7.5 million in long-term debt and $2.5 million in lease liabilities, as the Company continues to reduce its footprint and realize synergies.

For a discussion of the variance in long-term debt, refer to section 11.6 titled "Long-Term Debt and Net Debt".

11.2 Cash Flows - Operating Activities

For the three months ended March 31, 2025, net cash from operating activities was $17.1 million, representing an increase of $7.4 million, or 75.4%, from $9.7 million for the three months ended March 31, 2024. The cash flows for the three months ended March 31, 2025 resulted primarily from the net earnings of $8.0 million, plus $6.6 million of adjustments to the net earnings, consisting primarily of non-cash items such as depreciation and amortization, net financial expenses, share-based compensation, and deferred taxes, partially offset by a contingent consideration adjustment, unrealized foreign exchange gain, and the cash settlement of RSUs, DSUs, and PSUs, and by $2.5 million in favorable changes in non-cash working capital items. Revenues decreased from March 31, 2024 to March 31, 2025 primarily due to one client's major transformation project reaching maturity and a reduction in revenues from a few government contracts in Canada, partially offset by organic growth in certain areas of the business, a recovery in the banking sector, revenues from XRM Vision since the acquisition, and the positive impact of foreign exchange variations between the periods. Revenues decreased from March 31, 2023 to March 31, 2024 primarily due to a reduction in information technology investments in the banking sector and certain client projects reaching maturity, partially offset by organic growth in certain areas of the business and the positive impact of foreign exchange variations between the periods.

Net earnings for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025 were $1.3 million, representing an increase of $18.0 million, from a net loss of $16.7 million for the twelve months ended March 31, 2024. The increased earnings were driven by the increased gross margin, including a $1.0 million tax credit recovery from a previous acquisition, decreased selling, general and administrative expenses, including a $1.3 million reduction in expenses mainly related to impairment of property and equipment and right-of-use assets in the first quarter of last year, decreased business acquisition, integration and reorganization costs, resulting primarily from an increased recovery of $1.8 million from the contingent consideration adjustment related to the earn-out consideration from the Datum Acquisition which was partially offset by an increase of $1.0 million in acquisition costs related to the XRM Acquisition, decreased amortization of intangibles and depreciation of property and equipment, increased foreign exchange gain, and decreased net financial expenses, partially offset by the $5.1 million impairment of goodwill and increased income tax expense for the twelve months ended March 31, 2025, compared to the twelve months ended March 31, 2024. Net loss and basic and diluted loss per share decreased from March 31, 2023 to March 31, 2024 primarily due to decreases in selling, general and administrative expenses, business acquisition, integration and reorganization costs, including a recovery of the earn-out consideration related to the Datum Acquisition, and amortization of intangibles and depreciation of property and equipment, partially offset by decreased gross margin and increases in income tax expense, primarily due to a decrease in deferred tax recovery resulting from a deferred tax asset that was probable of being realized as a result of the deferred tax liability pursuant to the acquisition of Datum in the prior year, and net financial expenses.

The increase in total assets from March 31, 2024 to March 31, 2025 was due primarily to the acquisition of XRM, which resulted in the recognition of intangible assets and goodwill, and the increase in cash, consisting mainly of increased cash from operating activities, partially offset by the decrease in intangible assets due to amortization that occurred during the year ended March 31, 2025 and a decrease in accounts receivable and other receivables. The decrease in total assets from March 31, 2023 to March 31, 2024 was due primarily to the decrease in cash, due to repayments under the Credit Facility, and the decreases in unbilled revenues and intangibles and property and equipment due to amortization and depreciation that occurred during the year ended March 31, 2024, partially offset by an increase in accounts receivable and other receivables.

Non-current long-term debt, non-current lease liabilities, and non-current contingent consideration increased from March 31, 2024 to March 31, 2025 due to increased contingent consideration resulting from the XRM Acquisition, partially offset by a recovery of the earn-out consideration related to the Datum Acquisition and decreased long-term debt and lease liabilities resulting from repayments made in the year ended March 31, 2025. Non-current long-term debt and lease liabilities decreased from March 31, 2023 to March 31, 2024, primarily due to decreased long-term debt resulting from the repayment of loans, a recovery of the earn-out consideration related to the Datum Acquisition, and a reassessment of lease liabilities as part of Alithya's review of its real estate strategy following the integration of acquisitions and changes in working conditions in order to reduce the Company's footprint and realize synergies.

Quarterly variances in Alithya's results can be attributed primarily to seasonality and customer investment cycles. The revenues generated by Alithya's consultants are impacted by the number of working days in a particular quarter, which can vary as a result of vacations and other paid time off and statutory holidays. Similarly, customer information technology investment cycles are also affected by the seasonality of their own operations.

Over the eight-quarter period, revenues have fluctuated due to reductions in information technology investments in the financial services sector and certain clients' projects reaching maturity. Gross margin as a percentage of revenues has generally followed an increasing trend, mainly due to higher billing rates and increased efficiencies, improved project performance, and a steady migration towards higher value-added services. Selling, general and administrative expenses have fluctuated due to business acquisitions, net of synergies, and, in recent quarters, employee compensation expense, namely annual salary increases, variable compensation, and severance consisting of termination and benefit costs for management personnel. The downward trend in costs resulted mainly from the review of Alithya's cost structure initiated in the fourth quarter of fiscal 2022 and the modifications undertaken in the quarters that followed, and workforce reductions in response to changes in economic conditions. As a percentage of consolidated revenues, total selling, general and administrative expenses have varied due to business acquisitions, cost structure reviews, and as a result of the variations in revenues discussed above. Other expenses, such as business acquisition, integration and reorganization costs, depreciation, amortization of intangibles, and net financial expenses, have also varied as a result of business acquisitions and the subsequent integration activities and requirements.

16. Significant Management Judgement and Accounting Estimates

The preparation of Alithya's consolidated financial statements in conformity with IFRS requires management to make judgments, estimates and assumptions that affect the application of accounting policies and the amounts reported as assets, liabilities, income and expenses in the consolidated financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognized in the period in which they occur and in any future periods affected. Alithya's material accounting policies are fully described in Note 3 of Alithya's annual audited consolidated financial statements.

The following are critical judgements that management has made in applying accounting policies and that have the most significant effect on the amounts recognized in the consolidated financial statements:

Determination of cash generating units – The identification of CGUs and grouping of assets into the respective CGUs is based on currently available information about actual utilization experience and expected future business plans. Management has taken into consideration various factors in identifying its CGUs. These factors include how the Company manages and monitors its operations, the nature of each CGU's operations, and the major customer markets they serve. As such, the Company has identified its CGUs for purposes of testing the recoverability and impairment of non-financial assets to be: Canada, France, EPM, ERP and Industry Solutions.

Determination of operating segments – The Company uses judgment in the determination of operating segments for financial reporting and disclosure purposes. The Company has examined its activities and has determined that it has three reportable segments based on geography: Canada, U.S. and International.

The following are assumptions and estimation uncertainties that have a significant risk of resulting in material adjustments within the next year:

Revenue recognition for fixed-fee and time and material arrangements applying the Input Method – The Company recognizes revenues from arrangements applying the input method which can extend over more than one reporting period. Revenue from these arrangements applying the Input Method is recognized over time based on a measure of progress using the Company's best estimate of the total expected labour costs, and the related risks associated with completing the service. The determination of total expected labour costs to complete a service is based on estimates that can be affected by a variety of factors, including but not limited to, changes in the scope of the contract, delays in reaching milestones, changes in labour mix and rates, previously unidentified complexities in service delivery, or potential claims from customers.

As risks and uncertainties are different for each project, the sources of variations between anticipated costs and actual costs incurred will also vary by project. The determination of estimates is based on the Company's business practices as well as its historical experience, and is tightly linked to detailed project management processes and controls. The information provided by the project managers combined with a knowledgeable assessment of technical complexities and risks are used in estimating the percentage complete.

Impairment of long-lived assets – The Company's impairment test for goodwill is based on internal estimates of its individual CGUs' recoverable amounts determined as the greater of value in use and fair value less costs of disposal. Value in use represents the present value of the future cash flows expected to be derived from the CGU from its continued use. The fair value less cost of disposal represents the price that would be received to sell the CGU in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date under current market conditions, less incremental costs directly attributable to disposing of the CGU, excluding finance costs and income tax expense.

Key assumptions of the individual CGUs' value-in-use include forecasted revenues, cost of revenues, SG&A expenses and other non-cash adjustments applied in the determination of the Company's three year net operating cash flow forecast, estimated long-term growth rates used to extrapolate the three year net operating cash flow forecast and the pre-tax value weighted average cost of capital ("WACC") applied in the determination of the present value of the net operating cash flow forecast.

Key assumptions of the individual CGUs' fair value less cost of disposal include estimated revenues, cost of revenues, SG&A expenses and other non-cash adjustments applied in the determination of the Company's forecasted Adjusted EBITDA and an implied market multiple applied to forecasted Adjusted EBITDA.

Changes in these key assumptions can have a material impact on the recoverable amount calculated and ultimately the amount of any goodwill impairment recognized. Refer to Note 9 of Alithya's annual audited consolidated financial statements for additional information on the assumptions used.

17. Accounting Standard Amendments and Interpretations Effective for the Year Ended March 31, 2025

The following amendments to existing standards were adopted by the Company on April 1, 2024:

IAS 1 - Presentation of Financial Statements

On January 23, 2020, the IASB issued amendments to IAS 1 - Presentation of Financial Statements, to clarify the classification of liabilities as current or non-current. For the purposes of non-current classification, the amendments removed the requirement for a right to defer settlement or roll over of a liability for at least twelve months to be unconditional. Instead, such a right must have substance and exist at the end of the reporting period. After reconsidering certain aspects of the 2020 amendments, the IASB reconfirmed that only covenants with which a company must comply on or before the reporting date affect the classification of a liability as current or non-current. Additional disclosure will be required to help users understand the risk that those liabilities could become repayable within twelve months after the reporting date. The amendments also clarify how a company classifies a liability that includes a counterparty conversion option. The amendments state that: settlement of a liability includes transferring a company's own equity instruments to the counterparty; and when classifying liabilities as current or non-current, a company can ignore only those conversion options that are recognized as equity. The amendments to IAS 1 apply retrospectively and are effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2024. The amendments to IAS 1 had no impact on the Company's consolidated financial statements.

International Financial Reporting Interpretations Committee (“IFRIC”) Agenda Decision on Segment Reporting

In July 2024, the IFRS Interpretations Committee issued an agenda decision clarifying disclosure requirements for reportable segments under IFRS 8 – Operating Segments. The decision emphasizes the need to disclose certain specified items if these are included in the measure of segment profit or loss reviewed by the Chief Operating Decision Maker (CODM) or are otherwise regularly provided to the CODM, even if not included in that measure of segment profit or loss. As a result, the Company has made changes to reflect these requirements in Note 23 of Alithya's annual audited consolidated financial statements.

18. New Accounting Standards and Interpretations Issued but Not Yet Effective

At the date of authorization of the consolidated financial statements, certain new standards, amendments and interpretations, and improvements to existing standards have been published by the IASB but are not yet effective and have not been adopted early by the Company. Management anticipates that all the relevant pronouncements will be adopted in the first reporting period following the date of application. Information on new standards, amendments and interpretations, and improvements to existing standards, which could potentially impact the Company's consolidated financial statements, are detailed as follows:

IFRS 18 - Presentation and Disclosures in Financial Statements

On April 9, 2024, the IASB published the new IFRS 18 – Presentation and Disclosures in Financial Statements that will replace IAS 1 – Presentation of Financial Statements.

IFRS 18 covers four main areas:

- Introduction of defined subtotals and categories in the statement of profit or loss;
- Introduction of requirements to improve aggregation and disaggregation;
- Introduction of disclosures about management-defined performance measures (MPMs) in the notes to the financial statements; and
- Targeted improvements to the statement of cash flows by amending IAS 7 – Statement of Cash Flows.

IFRS 18 applies retrospectively and is effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2027, with earlier application permitted. Management is currently evaluating the impact of the amendment on its consolidated financial statements.

IFRS 7 and IFRS 9 - Classification and measurement of Financial Instruments

In May 2024, the IASB issued amendments to IFRS 9 – Financial Instruments and IFRS 7 – Financial Instruments: Disclosures. The standard amendments clarify the date of recognition and derecognition of some financial assets and liabilities, with a new exception for some financial liabilities settled through an electronic cash transfer system. Furthermore, they clarify the description of non-recourse assets and contractually linked instruments and they introduce additional disclosures for financial instruments with contractual terms that can change cash flows, and equity instruments classified at fair value through other comprehensive income. The amendments to IFRS 7 and IFRS 9 apply retrospectively and are effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2026, with earlier application permitted. Management is currently evaluating the impact of the amendment on its consolidated financial statements.

19. Risks and Uncertainties

While Alithya is confident about its long-term prospects, it operates in an environment that presents a variety of risks and uncertainties and is affected by a number of factors which could have a material adverse effect on its business, financial condition and results of operations, cash flows, business or reputation.

Alithya's risk management strategy is aligned with its business strategy and its activities are conducted with the understanding that risk-taking and effective management of risks are necessary and integral to achieving strategic objectives and managing business operations. The Board has delegated to the Audit and Risk Management Committee the responsibility to oversee risks and to the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee the responsibility to oversee risks disclosure. Management discusses the critical risks facing Alithya's business with the Audit and Risk Management Committee on a quarterly basis and with the Board on an annual basis during the strategic planning and budgeting processes, as well as on an ad hoc basis, as deemed necessary. Management also discusses risks disclosure with the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee on a quarterly basis to ensure its disclosure remains accurate and addresses the material risks that Alithya faces. Early identification of risks helps Alithya be more proactive and prevent major incidents and consequences.

The risks that Alithya currently believes could materially affect it are described in this section. They are grouped in the following categories:

- Risks related to the market: Includes risks arising from the market in general and which could have a material impact on Alithya's business;
- Risks related to Alithya's business: Includes risks specific to the way in which Alithya's business is structured and operates;
- Risks related to Alithya's industry: Includes risks to which companies providing digital technology consulting services are subject to; and
- Risks related to Subordinate Voting Shares and Liquidity: Includes risks specific to holding Subordinate Voting Shares and liquidity.

These risks are, however, not necessarily the only risks Alithya faces. Additional risks and uncertainties that are presently unknown or that Alithya may currently deem immaterial could adversely affect its business. Investors should carefully consider the risks and uncertainties discussed in this section as well as in Alithya's other materials made public, including documents filed with Canadian and U.S. securities regulatory authorities and which are available on SEDAR+ and EDGAR, before making an investment decision. The realization of any of these risks could, among other things, have an impact on the market price of the Subordinate Voting Shares.

19.1 Risks Related to the Market

19.1.1 Economic risks and political uncertainty

Alithya's results of operations are affected by the level of business activity of its customers, which in turn is affected by their level of economic activities in the industries and markets in which they operate as well as political uncertainty, which may include armed conflict, labour or social unrest, rising inflation, national trade policies, recession, climate change, and diseases or health emergencies. Economic conditions and political uncertainty could cause certain customers to reduce or defer their expenditures for digital technology consulting services and a significant prolonged decline in the level of business activity of Alithya's customers could have a material adverse effect on its revenues and profit margin. Since there may be fewer engagements, competition may increase and pricing for services may decline as competitors may decrease rates to maintain or increase their market share in the IT industry. Alithya maintains cost-savings initiatives to manage its expenses as a percentage of revenues, but there is no assurance that such initiatives would be successful over a long period affected by difficult economic conditions or political uncertainty. Alithya can neither predict the impact that economic and political conditions may have on its future revenues, nor predict changes in economic conditions or future political uncertainty.

Although its customers are principally located in Canada and the U.S., Alithya serves them through local presence as well as delivery centers located outside of Canada and the U.S. Accordingly, economic risks and political uncertainty in the jurisdictions from which it provides services could affect the delivery of its services. Similarly, as the Company continues to expand its operations in North America and internationally, including through acquisitions, the level of economic activity in such other jurisdictions, in which it may expand and develop more business with time, and the political uncertainty, war or armed conflict that could affect such jurisdictions could have a more significant footprint on Alithya's operations and business, financial condition and results of operations.

Additionally, the potential impacts of climate change are unpredictable and natural disasters, sea-level rise, floods, droughts or other weather-related events present additional risks, as they could disrupt Alithya's internal operations or its customers' operations, impact its professionals' health and safety, and increase insurance and other operating costs. Climate change risks can arise from physical risks (risks related to the physical effects of climate change), transition risks (risks related to regulatory, legal, technological and market changes from a transition to a low-carbon economy), as well as reputational risks related to Alithya's management of climate-related issues and the level of disclosure related to such matters. Such risks could affect Alithya or affect the financial viability of its customers, leading to a reduction of demand and loss of business from such customers and each of these risks could negatively impact Alithya's business, results of operations and financial condition. Alithya could be further disproportionately affected by such events if they are affecting regions where Alithya has a higher customer concentration.

19.1.2 Inflation, Tariffs and Trade Disputes

With the current higher levels of inflation, Alithya may become subject to significant cost pressures, which may result in market volatility. Governments of jurisdictions in which Alithya has direct or indirect business activities may adopt initiatives to combat inflation, such as raising interest rates, thus increasing its cost of borrowing and decreasing the liquidity of capital markets. Alithya's customers may have difficulty budgeting for external IT services, delay their IT spending or delay their payment for services provided. Higher levels of inflation may also lead to increased costs of labour and Alithya's selling, general and administrative expenses. If Alithya's operating costs were to become subject to significant inflationary pressures, there is no assurance that Alithya would be able to offset such higher costs, in part or in full, through price increases or other expense management efficiencies, which could have a material adverse effect on its business, financial condition or results of operations.

Political uncertainty surrounding tariffs, trade disputes and retaliatory measures between governments and barriers to international trade could negatively impact economic conditions, inflation, spending and currency exchange rates, and lead to multifaceted effects on the economies in which Alithya operates, including, but not limited to, supply chain disruptions, economic downturn and inflationary pressures, and uncertainty in capital markets. Tariffs and/or trade wars, if widespread and prolonged, can also lead to volatility in capital markets and slower economic growth. The duration and impact of these events are unknown at this time, nor is the impact on Alithya's operations and the market for its securities. While Alithya has not been directly impacted by US tariffs, there is no assurance that its customers will not and that, if they are, it will not affect their IT spendings and how they have historically conducted business with Alithya. Failure to mitigate the negative effects of tariffs, trade disputes and/or barriers to international trade could adversely impact Alithya's business, results of operations and financial condition.

19.1.3 Pandemics

Pandemics can create significant volatility and uncertainty and disrupt the industries and markets in which Alithya operates and pose the risk that Alithya's professionals, customers, subcontractors and business partners may be prevented from, or restricted in, conducting business activities as per past practice or as expected for an indefinite period, including due to the virus or disease or as a result of emergency measures and restrictions that may be recommended or imposed by governmental authorities to combat any such pandemic. Governmental emergency measures may include travel bans and restrictions, border closures, self-imposed quarantine or isolation periods, mandated business closures, vaccine mandates or passports, social distancing, testing requirements, stay-at-home and work-from-home policies, curfews, social distancing measures and the temporary closure of non-essential businesses, all of which may cause material disruptions and significant pressure on businesses in general and have an adverse impact on Alithya's business and results of operations.

A pandemic may result in: (i) reduced customer demand for Alithya's services and solutions; (ii) customer pressure on pricing and payment terms; (iii) difficulty in invoice collection; (iv) demands from customers to change or terminate existing contracts or work orders; (v) the non-renewal of expiring customer contracts; (vi) reduction in budgets for government programs that may be used by Alithya to support its research and growth; (vii) delays and disruptions in services from Alithya's third party service providers; and (viii) devotion of substantial amounts of management time and resources and increased operating costs to mitigate the impact of the pandemic. The likelihood and magnitude of such impacts or the occurrence of a pandemic or its resurgence are inherently difficult to predict and, although some impacts may materialize themselves, it would be challenging for Alithya to accurately estimate or quantify the severity of a pandemic and the full scope and magnitude of its impacts and consequences on Alithya, its business, financial condition and prospects.

19.2 Risks Related to Alithya's Business

19.2.1 Changes in the nature of revenues

Alithya generates revenues through the provision of strategic consulting and digital transformation services. These services are provided under arrangements with varying pricing mechanisms. Alithya's revenue-generating customer contracts generally fall into one of the following three categories: (i) strategic consulting and enterprise transformation services (time and materials arrangements), (ii) enterprise transformation services (fixed-fee arrangements), and (iii) business enablement services (including support revenues). Alithya also sometimes enters into arrangements with multiple performance obligations as well as payrolling services with certain customers through which contractor candidates recruited and selected by customers are hired by Alithya and then assigned to customer projects. Any change in the mix of Alithya's arrangements with its customers could have an impact upon its periodic operating performance, including gross margin.

19.2.2 Customer concentration

Alithya derives a significant portion of its revenues from certain major customers and expects this to continue in the foreseeable future. The increased breadth of Alithya's services and solutions offerings has also resulted in, and may continue to result in, larger and more complex projects and contracts with these major customers. Retaining these customers requires Alithya to foster close relationships with them and achieve a thorough understanding of their operations and needs in order to continue to provide high-quality services. Such major customers may not be easily replaced, and Alithya's ability to maintain such relationships depends on a number of factors, including the proficiency of its professionals and its management personnel. There can, however, be no assurance that each such customer will continue to be satisfied with Alithya's services and retain the services of Alithya on the same terms, or at all, in the future. Failure to maintain close relationships with these customers or to keep providing high-quality services that meet their expectations could result in termination of customer contracts and potential liability for significant penalties or damages, any of which could have a material adverse effect on Alithya's business, financial condition and results of operations. Consolidation among customers resulting from mergers and acquisitions could also result in loss or reduction of business when the successor's business IT needs are served by another service provider or provided by the successor company's internal IT department. Growth in a customer's IT needs resulting from acquisitions or operations may also lead to the undesirable outcome that Alithya would no longer have sufficient geographic scope or the critical mass to serve the customer's needs efficiently, resulting in the loss of the customer's business and impairing future prospects. There can be no assurance that Alithya will be able to achieve the objectives of its growth strategy in order to maintain and increase its geographic scope and critical mass in its targeted markets.

19.2.3 Fluctuation of business and financial results

Alithya's ability to maintain and increase its revenues is affected not only by its success in implementing its growth strategy by organic growth and acquisitions, but also by a number of other factors, which could cause Alithya's financial results to fluctuate. These factors include: (i) its ability to introduce and deliver new services and business solutions; (ii) its potential exposure to a lengthened sales cycle; (iii) the cyclicality of the purchases of its technology services; and (iv) the nature of its customers' business (for example, if a customer encounters financial difficulty, it may be forced to cancel, reduce or defer existing contracts with Alithya). Alithya's business, revenues and cash flows may also be affected by certain seasonal trends that affect its customers. For example, revenues may be lower in its second quarter which covers the period from July 1 to September 30, as its customers operations often experience a slow-down in the summer.

19.2.4 Commitment of substantial resources for growth

Growing Alithya's business over the long-term requires commitment of continued investments. Alithya's future capital requirements depends on many factors, including many of those discussed above, such as: (i) the results of Alithya's operations and the rate of its revenues growth; (ii) the development of new service offerings; (iii) the successful integration of acquisitions; (iv) hiring and retaining key personnel; (v) maintaining customer relationships; and (vi) the identification of suitable future acquisition opportunities.

Alithya's cash on hand and available financing may not be sufficient to fund these activities if opportunities arise, and Alithya may be unable to expand its business if it does not have sufficient capital or cannot borrow or raise additional capital on attractive terms.

19.2.5 Growth through acquisitions

Alithya's ability to grow through acquisitions requires that it identifies suitable acquisition targets that meet its financial and operational objectives and fit its culture and strategy. There can, however, be no assurance that Alithya will be able to identify and correctly evaluate suitable acquisition targets that meet its economic thresholds and create value for shareholders, or that future acquisitions will be successfully integrated into its operations and yield the tangible accretive value that had been expected. If Alithya is unable to implement its strategy, it will likely be unable to maintain its historic or expected growth rate.

The successful integration of new operations arising from Alithya's acquisition strategy requires that a substantial amount of management time and attention be focused on integration activities and management time that is devoted to integration activities may divert management's normal operations focus on growing the business organically with possible resulting pressure on the revenues and net earnings from its existing operations. In addition, Alithya may face complex and potentially time-consuming challenges in implementing its uniform standards, controls, procedures and policies across new operations when harmonizing their activities with those of its existing business units. Integration activities can result in unanticipated operational problems, expenses and liabilities. If Alithya is not successful in executing its integration strategies in a smooth, timely and cost-effective manner, it could have difficulty achieving expected synergies, which could as a result affect its growth and profitability objectives.

Additional risks and uncertainties relating to acquisitions and other strategic transactions include: (i) difficulties in retaining key employees and integrating new professionals from acquired businesses into Alithya's team and culture, (ii) difficulties in maintaining and building on relationships with present and potential customers, subcontractors and business partners of an acquired business or Alithya; (iii) difficulties managing and integrating operations in geographically dispersed locations; (iv) the risk that the targeted markets do not evolve as anticipated and that technologies acquired prove to be inferior to Alithya's expectations; (v) potential deficiencies in the internal controls and procedures at acquired companies; (vi) cybersecurity and compliance related issues; and (vii) exposure to unanticipated liabilities. Following an acquisition, Alithya may also remain reliant on the acquired business' personnel, good faith, expertise, historical performance, technical resources, IT infrastructure and systems, timely support, and proprietary information. Accordingly, Alithya may be exposed to risks associated with adverse developments in the business and affairs of the acquired business as well as vulnerabilities of its IT infrastructure and systems.

Although Alithya strives to conduct a sufficient level of due diligence when contemplating an acquisition, an unavoidable level of risk remains regarding the accuracy, quality and completeness of the information provided to Alithya during such process and there may be liabilities, deficiencies or other claims associated with companies or assets that are acquired and that Alithya failed to discover or which Alithya was unable to quantify accurately or at all during the due diligence process, as it was not in a position to independently verify the accuracy or completeness of such information, and which may result in unanticipated costs. In connection with acquisitions, Alithya may also incur debt, issue Subordinate Voting Shares or securities convertible into Subordinate Voting Shares, assume contingent liabilities or have amortization expenses and write-downs of acquired assets, which could cause Alithya's earnings to decline.

19.2.6 Penetrating new markets

Penetrating new markets, including as a result of the development and offering of new technologies and solutions, represents both a risk and an opportunity. If Alithya expands its business offerings into new industries or geographies, it will face risks associated with entering into such new markets in which it may have limited or no experience. Such new markets may also present additional complexity and Alithya may have limited or no brand recognition in such markets. It could also be costly to establish, develop and maintain international operations, as well as promote Alithya's brand internationally. Furthermore, expanding into new jurisdictions, including where the main language is not English or French, may require substantial expenditures and take considerable time and attention, and there is no assurance that Alithya would be successful enough in these new markets to build on its investments in a timely manner, or at all.

19.2.7 International operations

Alithya operates in several jurisdictions around the world, including as a result of its offshoring capabilities. As such, the scope of its operations subjects it to a variety of financial, regulatory, political, cultural and social challenges. These risks, which can vary substantially by market and jurisdiction, are described in many of the risk factors discussed in this section and also include: (i) currency fluctuations; (ii) risks related to complying with a wide variety of local, national and international laws, regulations and policies, together with potential adverse or significant changes in laws and regulatory framework and practices and the burdens and costs of compliance associated with it; (iii) changes in regulatory practices and taxes; (iv) difficulties or expenses in enforcing contractual rights or intellectual property rights in certain jurisdictions; (v) exchange controls and other funding restrictions and limitations on Alithya's ability to repatriate cash, funds or capital invested or held in certain jurisdictions in which Alithya operates; (vi) cultural, logistical and communications challenges; (vii) changes in regulatory practices, tariffs and taxes, which could also result in a trade war and trade restrictions; (viii) general social, economic and political conditions or instability in one or more specific jurisdictions and/or globally, including recessions, political changes or disruptions and other economic crises in one or more jurisdictions in which Alithya operates, and (xix) the risks that foreign ownership restrictions with respect to Alithya's operations in certain jurisdictions could be adopted. Any one or more of these factors could have a material adverse impact on Alithya's business, financial condition and results of operations.

19.2.8 Dependence on certain key personnel

Alithya believes that its success depends on the continued employment of its senior management team and other key personnel, the loss of which could have a material adverse effect on its business and results of operations, in addition to resulting in increased expenses to cover such persons' functions until a successor is appointed and is fully operational. This dependence is particularly important to Alithya's business because personal relationships are a critical element in obtaining and maintaining customer engagements. As its business grows, including through acquisitions, Alithya may also implement changes in its management structure, which it believes to be appropriate in the circumstances at the time they are implemented, but which could differ from the views or expectations of some. While management and the Board have established and regularly review a succession plan for Alithya's senior management team, which includes an emergency succession plan to deal with any situation which requires immediate replacement, it still presents logistical challenges in its application and may result in incremental costs to Alithya. If one or more members of Alithya's senior management team or other key personnel were unable or unwilling to continue in their present positions, Alithya's business could be adversely affected. Furthermore, competitors, or customers who increasingly seek to develop in-house business capabilities, could attempt and successfully hire away certain of Alithya's key personnel.

19.2.9 Bidding processes

Alithya obtains a part of its contracts through competitive bidding processes, which limit Alithya's ability to negotiate certain contractual terms and conditions. Costs and resources, including time from management, are required to prepare bids and proposals for contracts that may ultimately not be awarded to Alithya or that may be split with competitors. A part of Alithya's revenues depends on obtaining new orders and continued replenishment of its backlog and there is no assurance that Alithya will continue to win contracts through competitive bidding processes at the same rate as it has in the past or at a higher rate. Moreover, certain governments increasingly put pressure on prices or may require that bidders meet certain criteria that Alithya may not meet alone. In addition, as the competitive environment intensifies, Alithya remains subject to potential unsuccessful bidders protesting its selection through a bidding contest, which could divert management's attention and resources, in addition to potentially resulting in contract modifications or the award decision being reversed and the loss of the contract. Even though a bid protest would not result in the loss of an award, the resolution could extend the time until the contract activity can begin, which could reduce Alithya's earnings in the period in which the contract would otherwise have been performed.

In addition, when making proposals, Alithya relies heavily on estimates of costs and timing for completing projects, as well as assumptions regarding technical issues. It may also bid on contracts for which the work activities, deliverables and timelines are vague or for which the solicitation incompletely describes the actual work, which may result in inaccurate pricing assumptions. These factors affect the cost estimates of contracts on which Alithya bids, which can ultimately result in the contractual price being less favorable to Alithya. Also, failure to achieve program milestones as scheduled or the need to devote more resources than originally anticipated may impact timely execution and profitability. Furthermore, the delivery of services in connection with such contracts may result in the lost opportunity of not bidding on and winning other more favorable contracts that could have been pursued instead.

19.2.10 History of losses

While Alithya generated net earnings for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2025, it had a history of losses in previous fiscal years. Alithya expects to continue to record significant depreciation and amortization expenses, and to expend significant funds to increase its capability to win new contracts, expand and improve its existing operations and make additional acquisitions. As it continues to grow, the aggregate amount of these expenses may continue to grow. Alithya's efforts to grow its business may be more costly than expected and Alithya may not be able to increase its revenues enough to offset operating expenses. As such, there is no assurance that Alithya will generate net earnings in the future. Alithya may incur losses in the future for a number of reasons, including as a result of unforeseen expenses, difficulties, complications and delays, the other risks described herein and other unknown events. The amount of future net earnings (losses), will depend, in part, on the growth of Alithya's future expenses and its ability to generate revenue. Any future net earnings (losses) of Alithya or its inability to maintain profitability and positive cash flows from operating activities, among other things, may have an adverse effect on Alithya's shareholders' equity and working capital.

19.2.11 Early termination, modification, delay and suspension risks

Most of Alithya's customer contracts contain "termination for convenience" or termination upon short notice provisions, which permit the customer to terminate or cancel the contract at its convenience upon providing Alithya with notice of a specified period of time before the termination date and/or paying a penalty, depending on the specific contract terms. Customers may elect to terminate their contracts before their agreed expiry date, or even modify, delay or suspend them, for a variety of reasons, including a failure by Alithya to deliver its services in accordance with the terms and conditions of its contractual agreements or maintain required certifications, a slow-down in business activity or any other reason whatsoever, which could result in a reduction of Alithya's net earnings and cash flow and may impact the value of its backlog. In cases of early termination, Alithya may also not be able to eliminate ongoing costs incurred to support the contract.

19.2.12 Changes to backlog

Backlog represents management's estimate of the aggregate amount of revenues expected to be realized in the future. As Alithya's revenues depend on the level of activities of its customers, Alithya cannot guarantee that the revenues projected in its backlog will be realized or, if realized, will result in profits. Projects may remain in the backlog for an extended period of time. Also, in the event a significant number of customers were to avail themselves of "termination for convenience" provisions, or if one or more significant customer contracts were terminated for convenience, Alithya's reported backlog would be adversely affected with a corresponding adverse impact on Alithya's expected financial condition and results of operations.

19.2.13 Customer collection and credit risk

In order to sustain its cash flow from operations, Alithya must invoice and collect amounts owed in an efficient and timely manner. Adverse changes in a customer's financial condition could cause Alithya to limit or discontinue business with that customer, require Alithya to assume more credit risk relating to that customer's future business, or result in uncollectible accounts receivable from that customer. Although Alithya maintains provisions to account for anticipated shortfalls in amounts collected from customers, the provisions it takes are based on management estimates and on its assessment of its customers' creditworthiness, which may prove to be inadequate in the light of actual results. To the extent that Alithya fails to invoice customers and collect the amounts owed for its services correctly in a timely manner, its collections could be negatively impacted, which could materially adversely affect its revenues, net earnings and cash flow. In addition, a prolonged economic downturn may impair customers' ability to pay for services already provided, and ultimately cause them to default on existing contracts. Future credit losses relating to any one of Alithya's major customers could also be material and result in a material change in its financial results.

19.2.14 Utilization rates

In order to maintain and grow revenues, Alithya has to maintain an appropriate level of availability of professional resources by having a high utilization rate while still being able to assign additional resources to new work. Maintaining an efficient utilization rate, however, requires Alithya to forecast its need for professional resources accurately and to manage recruitment activities, professional training programs, attrition rates and restructuring activities appropriately. To the extent that it fails to do so, or to the extent that laws and regulations restrict its ability to do so, Alithya's utilization rates may be reduced and thereby adversely affect its revenues and profitability. Conversely, Alithya may find that it does not have sufficient resources to deploy against new business opportunities, in which case its ability to grow its revenues would suffer.

19.2.15 Costs of services

In order to generate acceptable margins, Alithya's pricing for services depends on its ability to accurately estimate the costs and timing for completing projects, which can be based on a customer's bid specification, sometimes in advance of the final determination of the full scope and design of the contract. Alithya is dependent on its internal forecasts and predictions about projects and the market, and, to generate an acceptable return on our investment in these contracts, Alithya must be able to accurately estimate its costs to provide the services required by the contract and to complete the contracts in a timely manner. In addition, a portion of Alithya's project-oriented contracts are performed on a fixed-fee basis. Billing for fixed-fee arrangements is carried out in accordance with the contractual terms agreed upon with Alithya's customers, and revenues are recognized based on the percentage of effort incurred to date in relation to the total estimated efforts to be incurred over the duration of the respective contract. These estimates reflect Alithya's best judgment regarding the efficiencies of its methodologies and professionals as it plans to apply them to the contracts in accordance with Alithya's standards of contract management. Although fixed-fee arrangements still represent a minority of Alithya's revenues, Alithya is increasingly contracting under a fixed-fee basis. If Alithya is unsuccessful in accurately estimating its labour costs or labour hours required to fulfill its obligations under a contract, or if unexpected factors, including those outside of its control, arise, Alithya may be required to absorb cost overruns, reducing profit margins or incurring losses, thereby having a material adverse effect on Alithya's expected net earnings.

19.2.16 Teaming agreements and subcontractors

Alithya derives revenues from contracts where it enters into teaming agreements with other providers. In some teaming agreements, Alithya is the primary contractor, whereas in others, Alithya acts as a subcontractor. In both cases, Alithya relies upon its relationships with other providers to generate business and expects to continue to do so in the foreseeable future. Where Alithya acts as the primary contractor, if it fails to maintain its relationships with other providers, Alithya may have difficulty attracting suitable participants in its teaming agreements. Similarly, where it acts as subcontractor, if its relationships are impaired, other providers might reduce the work they award to Alithya, award that work to competitors or choose to offer the services themselves directly to the customers in order to compete with Alithya's business. In either case, if Alithya fails to maintain its relationship with these providers or if its relationship with these providers is otherwise impaired, Alithya's business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations could be materially adversely affected.

19.2.17 Business partners' ability to deliver on their commitments

Increasingly large and complex contracts may require Alithya to rely upon third party subcontractors, including software and hardware suppliers, to help Alithya fulfill its commitments. Under such circumstances, Alithya's success depends on the ability of third parties to perform their obligations within agreed upon budgets and time frames. If Alithya's business partners fail to deliver, Alithya's ability to complete ongoing contracts may be adversely affected, which could have an unfavorable impact on its profitability. In addition, Alithya may not be able to replace the functions provided by these third parties if their software components or solutions become obsolete, defective or incompatible with future versions of Alithya's solutions and services, or if they are not adequately maintained or updated. Third-party suppliers of software or other intellectual property assets could also be unwilling to permit Alithya to use or to continue to use their intellectual property and this could impede or disrupt the use of their solutions or services by Alithya's customers and Alithya.

19.2.18 Guarantee and indemnification risks

In the normal course of business, Alithya enters into agreements that may provide for indemnification and guarantees to counterparties in transactions such as consulting services, business divestitures, lease agreements and financial obligations. These indemnification undertakings and guarantees may require Alithya to compensate counterparties for costs and losses incurred as a result of various events, including breaches of representations and warranties, intellectual property right infringement, claims that may arise while providing services or as a result of litigation that may be suffered by counterparties. If Alithya is required to compensate counterparties due to such arrangements and its insurance does not provide adequate coverage, its business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations could be materially adversely affected.

19.2.19 Insurance Limits

Alithya maintains comprehensive insurance coverage to provide indemnity for its losses and liabilities in connection with various aspects of its business and operations. However, insurance policies are complex contracts and it may happen that Alithya's interpretation of its policies differs from its insurance providers' which may lead to a total or partial denial of coverage and to litigation where there is further uncertainty with respect to how the courts would interpret the provisions of the policies. Moreover, Alithya's insurance programs are subject to varying coverage limits, as well as retentions and exclusions that are customary or reasonable given the cost of procuring insurance, current operating conditions, and other relevant considerations. As a result, Alithya may be subject to future liability for which it is only partially insured, or completely uninsured. Alithya believes that its insurance programs address all material insurable risks and provide coverage that is in accordance with what would be maintained by a prudent operator of a similar business (including in terms of retentions, limits and exclusions). However, there can be no assurance that such insurance will continue to be offered on economically feasible terms, that all events that could give rise to a loss or liability are or will be insurable, or that the amounts of insurance will be sufficient to cover every loss or claim that may arise.

19.2.20 IT infrastructure and systems and use of the cloud

To deliver its services and solutions and provide reliable communications between its offices, delivery centers, customers, subcontractors and other business partners worldwide, Alithya relies upon its own IT infrastructure and systems as well as those of third parties. Any failure, outage or disruption in Alithya's or any third party's IT infrastructure or systems could result in curtailed operations, a loss of customers and reputational damage, all of which could have an adverse effect on Alithya's business, financial condition and results of operations. For example, Alithya delivers its solutions and services to customers through the use of third-party cloud computing services, such as Oracle Cloud, Microsoft Azure and Amazon Web Services (AWS) cloud services. If, for any reason, such services were discontinued or Alithya was required to migrate its computing towards other cloud service providers, such a transition could require significant time and expense and Alithya's business could be adversely impacted. Although contractual agreements with such third-party cloud computing services contain minimum service levels, there is no assurance that Alithya's business will not be affected by an interruption of services or incidents. Any damage to, or failure of, Alithya's services providers' IT infrastructure or systems could result in interruptions of Alithya's services, which could have an impact on its revenues, subject it to potential liability and adversely affect its ability to retain or attract customers. The performance, reliability and availability of Alithya's services is critical to its reputation and ability to attract and retain customers. In addition, the costs for cloud services have increased over time, and may increase further as Alithya's business grows and as it continues to require more computing or storage capacity. There is no assurance that such capacity will be available on the same terms or with the same costs or at all. These costs could therefore adversely impact its business, financial condition and results of operations.

19.2.21 Security and cybersecurity risks

Alithya faces security risks affecting its premises as well as cybersecurity risks affecting its IT infrastructure, systems, software and solutions. Both security risks present a risk of loss, theft and unauthorized access, use or disclosure of proprietary information (including intellectual property rights) or confidential information (including personal information of customers, partners or employees) of Alithya, its customers, their customers, its subcontractors and its business partners. Cybersecurity threats to IT infrastructure, systems, software and solutions are serious threats to the confidentiality, integrity, reliability, and availability of technology and information. Cybersecurity threats and incidents may take the form of denial of service, system failures or interruptions, software bugs or defects, cyber extortion (i.e. ransomware), breaches of systems security, electronic crime, malware, unauthorized attempts to gain access to proprietary and confidential information, hacking, phishing, identity theft, fraud and theft. State sponsored attacks, industrial espionage, employee misconduct or negligence, and human or technological errors (including from advertent or inadvertent actions or inactions by Alithya's professionals or subcontractors) also present potential risks and geopolitical instability and tension may exacerbate certain threats.

Also, in addition to the inherent cybersecurity risks that arise from operating in the IT sector, Alithya increases its exposure and vulnerability to cybersecurity risks as follows: (i) by allowing its professionals and subcontractors to work remotely and use video conferencing and collaborative platforms, (ii) by granting its subcontractors access to its IT infrastructure and systems, (iii) by operating or gaining access to its customers' IT infrastructure and systems to deliver services, (iv) by managing customer services in its IT infrastructure and thereby exposing itself to the risks that its customers face, especially if they have an elevated threat condition due to the nature of their business; (v) by allowing the use of open source code by its professionals and subcontractors, and (vi) by integrating and relying on AI. While Alithya selects its subcontractors carefully and includes safeguards in their contractual terms, it does not control their actions. Further, while Alithya has guidelines relating to the use of AI, AI poses evolving cybersecurity risks.

The occurrence of any of the aforementioned security and cybersecurity risks could expose Alithya, its customers or subcontractors to potential liability, litigation, and regulatory action, could materially affect or disrupt their business operations, and could cause loss of customer confidence, loss of existing or potential customers, damage to their reputation and competitive position, and increase costs and expenses.

Alithya seeks to detect and investigate all security incidents and to prevent their occurrence or recurrence by continuously testing, controlling and investing in security measures and controls (including both physical and logical controls on access to premises and information), adopting or enhancing mitigation policies and procedures, and providing employee security awareness and training. If security protection does not evolve at the same pace as threats, a growing gap on Alithya's level of protection will be created. However, given the highly evolving nature and sophistication of cyber and other security threats and their increased frequency, Alithya may be unable to anticipate, prevent, detect and react to all threats in a timely manner. Alithya may be required to expend significant capital and other resources to protect itself against potential security and cybersecurity threats or to mitigate the impact caused by security and cybersecurity breaches. Any cybersecurity incident could require Alithya to incur substantial costs, including costs associated with repairing its IT infrastructure and systems, implementing further protection measures, engaging third-party experts and consultants, and result in increased insurance premiums. The impact of any future security or cybersecurity incident cannot be easily predicted, and the costs related to such threats or disruptions could not be fully insured or indemnified by other means. While Alithya's liability insurance policy covers cyber risks, there is no assurance that such insurance coverage will be sufficient in type or amount to cover the costs, damages, liabilities or losses that could result from security and cybersecurity incidents, that insurance will continue to be available to Alithya on economically reasonable terms, or at all, or that any insurer will not deny coverage as to any future claim.

Alithya's Chief Information Security Officer is responsible for overseeing its physical and cyber security measures, including the prevention, detection and investigation of incidents in the event of the occurrence of threats by implementing security measures to ensure an appropriate level of control based on the nature of the information and the inherent risks attached thereto. Alithya's security management framework provides a foundation for a risk-based approach to the development, review and regular improvements of policies, processes, standards and controls related to information security, data privacy, physical security and business continuity.

19.2.22 Data privacy rights and risks of unauthorized access or disclosure

In the course of its business, whether while providing its services or for its own proprietary information and the personal information of its employees, Alithya often has access to or collects, processes and stores personal information. When accessing, collecting, processing or storing personal information, Alithya depends on the security features of its IT infrastructure and systems and those of its customers, partners or third parties. Security or cybersecurity threats, employee or subcontractor negligence or misconduct, and human or technological errors, however, present potential risks of theft, loss or unauthorized access or disclosure of personal information.

Alithya's Privacy Officer oversees its compliance with the laws that protect personal information, including but not limited to U.S. and Canadian laws and regulations as well as the European Union's General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), and puts in place policies, standards and procedures to cause personal information to be accessed, collected, processed and stored securely and in accordance with such applicable laws and regulations. The theft and/or unauthorized access to, loss of, or disclosure of personal information in Alithya's possession or control (or the failure by Alithya to comply with applicable laws and regulations) could expose it to civil, administrative or criminal enforcement actions and penalties, as well as lawsuits brought by its customers, its customers' customers, or third parties for breaching contractual confidentiality and security provisions or privacy laws or regulations. The amount of damages could be substantial, and any such claim could cause significant reputational harm to Alithya. Its current and prospective customers could also lose confidence in the effectiveness of its data security measures and reduce the demand for its services, regardless of whether Alithya was responsible for the breach. Incidentally, in the event of a data privacy incident, Alithya may be required to shut-down affected IT infrastructure and systems to isolate the threat and thereby jeopardize its operations, including projects that may be critical to the operations of its customers' businesses.

Furthermore, as laws and expectations relating to data privacy continue to rapidly evolve, the way in which Alithya may access, collect, process, store and disclose personal information may become even more limited, and may require increased expenditures by Alithya. Should those expenditures and risks outweigh the revenues and gains associated with certain services, Alithya could also take the decision of no longer continuing to offer certain types of services.

19.2.23 Use of Artificial Intelligence in services and solutions

Alithya is increasingly applying and expects to continue to apply AI-based technologies, including generative AI, to its services and solutions to drive productivity and competitive advantages. While not adopting such technologies could be a threat to Alithya's ability to compete, retain existing customers and attract new customers, the development, adoption, and use of AI technologies is still in the early stages and poses certain risks. For instance, if the content, recommendations or analyses that AI applications assist in producing are, or are alleged to be, deficient, inaccurate, or to contain unethical or inappropriate content, Alithya could be subject to competitive risks, potential legal or financial liability, and reputational harm. Additionally, the effective use of AI often requires large volumes of data, which may be shared with third parties and could lead to cybersecurity or privacy incidents that could adversely impact Alithya's business. Furthermore, the legal and regulatory landscape surrounding AI technologies is rapidly evolving and uncertain, with certain jurisdictions applying, or considering applying, laws and regulations related to IP, cybersecurity, privacy, data security, and data protection to AI and automated decision-making, or general legal frameworks on AI. These laws are continuously evolving and developing and may impose obligations on companies developing and using AI or automated decision-making technologies. Given the rapid rate of change and the often uncertain scope, interpretation, and application of these laws and regulations, which may be in conflict across jurisdictions, Alithya may not always be able to anticipate how courts and regulators will apply existing laws to AI, predict how new legal frameworks will address AI, or otherwise ensure compliance with these frameworks. Compliance with new or changing laws, regulations, industry standards or ethical requirements and expectations relating to AI may impose significant operational costs requiring Alithya to change its service offerings or business practices, particularly as it expands the use of such technologies, or may limit or prevent its ability to develop, deploy, or use AI technologies. Any failure to appropriately conform to this evolving landscape may result in legal liability, regulatory action, or brand and reputational harm, all of which could have a material adverse effect on Alithya's business, financial condition and results of operations.

Although Alithya has established internal controls and processes to identify and mitigate risks that are inherent to the use of AI, these may not be sufficient to adequately protect against all associated risks. Any failure by Alithya to address concerns relating to the responsible use of AI technology in its services and solutions may cause harm to its reputation or financial liability and, as such, may increase its costs to address or mitigate such risks and issues. This may result in fines, penalties, litigation, and could negatively impact Alithya's reputation and customer confidence. Furthermore, there can be no assurance that investments made in these technologies and related processes and tools will provide a valuable return, if any, to Alithya.

19.2.24 Services to government departments and agencies

One of Alithya's principal targeted markets is the government sector. Changes in government spending policies or budget priorities could directly affect Alithya's financial performance. Among the factors that could harm Alithya's government contracting business are: (i) the curtailment of governments' use of consulting and IT services firms; (ii) a significant decline in spending by governments in general, or by specific departments or agencies in particular; (iii) the adoption of new legislation and/or actions affecting companies that provide services to governments; (iv) delays by governments in the payment of its invoices; and (v) general economic and political conditions.

These and other factors could cause government departments and agencies to reduce their purchases under contracts, to exercise their right to terminate contracts, to issue temporary stop work orders, or not to exercise options to renew contracts, any of which would cause Alithya to lose future revenues. Government spending reductions or budget cutbacks at departments or agencies to which Alithya provides services or expects to provide services could materially harm Alithya's continued performance or limit the award of additional contracts.

19.2.25 Government sponsored programs

Alithya benefits from government sponsored programs designed to support research and development, labour and economic growth. Alithya may also receive tax credits from governments in Canada and abroad. Government programs reflect government policies and depend on various political and economic factors. There can be no assurance that such government programs will continue to be available to Alithya in the future, or that such programs will not be reduced, amended or eliminated. In addition, these tax credits and programs are routinely subject to review and audit, which may result in challenges and disputes and could result in reductions or reversals of grants or tax credits previously received. Any government program reduction, elimination or other amendment to the government sponsored programs from which Alithya benefits, as well as any reduction or reversal of grants, credits or contributions previously received, could increase operating or capital expenditures incurred by Alithya and have a material adverse effect on its net earnings or cash flow.

19.2.26 Regulatory risks

Alithya's global operations require compliance with laws and regulations in several jurisdictions on many matters of increasing levels of complexity, including anti-corruption, intellectual property, trade restrictions, immigration, taxation, antitrust, data privacy, labour relations, environment and securities. Complying with these diverse requirements is a challenge and consumes significant resources, especially as it relates to the laws of jurisdictions other than Canada and the U.S. Laws and regulations frequently change and some may also impose conflicting requirements as well as restrictions on the movement of cash, currency fluctuation and other assets and on the repatriation of Alithya's net earnings.

19.2.27 Ethical and Sustainability risks

Alithya's employees, officers, directors and subcontractors are expected to comply with applicable laws, regulations and ethical standards. Alithya has put in place measures and controls to ensure compliance therewith, including through the adoption of a Code of Business Conduct that sets out uniform foundations for the way these individuals are expected to conduct themselves. Despite Alithya's best efforts, there is, however, no assurance that such measures and controls will be sufficient to prevent violations and failure to do so could expose Alithya to significant fines and penalties, criminal, civil and administrative legal sanctions, harm its reputation or even disqualify it from its ability to bid, enter into or perform public or private contracts, resulting in reduced revenues and profit. This risk also increases as Alithya continues to expand its business internationally.

From time to time, stakeholders express expectations with respect to sustainability, including environmental, social and governance matters, and certain customers may have criteria to observe when selecting a service provider. The sustainability practices and initiatives that Alithya maintains or chooses to implement and pursue, and Alithya's ability to achieve and report on such practices and initiatives, could therefore have an impact on its growth and results of operations. Failure to effectively manage and sufficiently and accurately report on sustainability matters could also lead to legal and regulatory consequences.

19.2.28 Legal claims

During the ordinary course of conducting its business, Alithya may be threatened with or become subject to legal proceedings initiated by customers or other third parties. For instance, Alithya's solutions may suffer from defects that adversely affect their performance, may not meet its customers' requirements or may fail to perform in accordance with applicable service levels. Such problems could subject Alithya to legal liability. Alithya may also be exposed to significant legal liability and litigation expense if its services or solutions cause bodily injuries to its personnel, customers, or the public, or result in property damage. For example, by taking over the operation of certain portions of its customers' businesses, including functions and systems that are critical to their core operations, or by contributing to the design, development and integration of enterprise software solutions, data systems and digital platforms, Alithya may face additional and evolving operational, regulatory, reputational or other risks specific to these areas. These include risks related to data security, health and safety, hazardous materials and other environmental risks. A failure of a customer's system, product or infrastructure based on Alithya's services or solutions could also subject Alithya to a claim for significant damages that could materially adversely affect its results of operations. Alithya uses reasonable efforts to include provisions in its contracts which are designed to limit its exposure to legal claims relating to its services and the applications it develops and obtain adequate liability insurance coverage. However, Alithya may not always be able to include such provisions or obtain sufficient insurance coverage or certain provisions may ultimately prove to be unenforceable under the laws of certain jurisdictions or not protect Alithya adequately. Defending lawsuits against Alithya could require substantial amounts of management's attention and require Alithya to incur significant attorney fees or pay damage awards and fines or penalties for which Alithya may not be fully insured and which could harm its reputation and adversely affect its business, financial condition and results of operations.

19.2.29 Reputational risks

Alithya's reputation as a capable and trustworthy service provider and long-term business partner is key to its ability to compete effectively in the market for IT services. The nature of Alithya's operations exposes it to the potential loss, unauthorized access to, or destruction of its customers' information, as well as temporary service interruptions. Depending on the nature of the information or services, such events may have a negative impact on how Alithya is perceived in the marketplace. Under such circumstances, Alithya's ability to obtain new customers and retain existing customers could suffer with a resulting impact on its revenues and net earnings.

19.2.30 Tax obligations

In estimating its income tax payable, Alithya uses accounting principles to determine income tax positions that are likely to be sustained by applicable tax authorities. However, there is no assurance that Alithya's tax benefits or tax liability will not materially differ from its estimates or expectations. The tax legislation, regulation and interpretation that apply to Alithya's operations are continually changing. In addition, future tax benefits and liabilities are dependent on factors that are inherently uncertain and subject to change, including future earnings, future tax rates, and anticipated business mix in the various jurisdictions in which Alithya operates. Moreover, Alithya's tax returns are continually subject to review by applicable tax authorities, which determine the actual amounts of taxes payable or receivable, of any future tax benefits or liabilities and of income tax expense that Alithya may ultimately recognize and such determinations may become final and binding on Alithya. Tax authorities have disagreed and may in the future disagree with Alithya's income tax positions and are taking increasingly restrictive positions in respect of income tax positions, including with respect to intercompany transactions.

A number of jurisdictions in which Alithya operates have complex tax and related laws, regulations and interpretations or are considering implementing amendments thereto, which make the overall tax environment increasingly challenging for multinational corporations to operate with certainty about taxation in many jurisdictions.

Any of the aforementioned factors could have a material adverse effect on Alithya's net earnings or cash flow by affecting its operations and profitability, the availability of tax credits, the cost of the services it provides, and the availability of deductions for operating losses as it develops its international service delivery capabilities.

19.2.31 Foreign exchange

Foreign exchange risk is the risk that the fair value of assets or liabilities, or future cash flows, will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates. Alithya's functional and reporting currency is the Canadian dollar. As a significant portion of Alithya's revenues, net earnings (loss) and net assets is denominated in foreign currencies, including in U.S. dollars, Euros, British pounds and Australian dollars, fluctuations in exchange rates between the Canadian dollar and such currencies could have an adverse effect on its financial condition and results of operations. This risk is partially mitigated by a natural hedge in matching Alithya's costs with revenues denominated in the same currency.

Future events that may significantly increase or decrease the risk of future movement in the exchange rates for these currencies cannot be predicted. Although Alithya does not currently have an exchange rate risk policy that would materially affect its results of operations, it is still subject to foreign exchange risk.

19.2.32 Estimates used in accounting and impairment risk

Accounting for Alithya's contracts requires judgment associated with estimating contract revenue and costs and assumptions for schedule and technical issues. Because of the significance of the judgements and estimation processes involved in accounting for contracts, materially different amounts could be recorded if Alithya used different assumptions or if the underlying circumstances were to change. Changes in underlying assumptions, circumstances or estimates may adversely affect Alithya's future results of operations.

Also, Alithya recognizes an accounting value for non-financial assets such as goodwill and other intangible assets in connection with its acquisitions. The carrying amounts of Alithya's non-financial assets subject to amortization are tested for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount may not be recoverable. Goodwill is tested for impairment annually or at any time if an indicator of impairment exists. Changes in key assumptions may result in the carrying value of Alithya's goodwill not being recoverable. Key assumptions include changes in forecasted revenues and expenses applied in the determination the Company's three-year net operating cash flow forecast, estimated long-term growth rate and the pre-tax value weighted average cost of capital applied. Because of the significance of Alithya's non-financial assets, any reduction or impairment of the value of these assets could result in a charge against net earnings, which could materially adversely affect Alithya's results of operations and shareholders' equity in future periods.

19.2.33 Effectiveness of internal controls over financial reporting

Alithya is required to maintain internal controls over financial reporting, as defined under National Instrument 52-109 and in Rule 13(a)-15(f) under the U.S. Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. Internal controls are a process designed under the supervision of the President and Chief Executive Officer and the Chief Financial Officer, and effected by management and other key personnel, to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with IFRS. However, due to the inherent limitations of internal controls, no evaluation of controls can provide absolute assurance that all control issues within an organization are detected and Alithya's internal controls over financial reporting could prove to be insufficient or unable to prevent or detect misstatements due to errors or fraud in timely manner or at all. Any failure of Alithya's internal controls could have an adverse effect on its results of operations, harm its reputation and limit its ability to produce timely and accurate financial statements or comply with applicable regulations, causing investors to lose confidence in its reported financial information.

Alithya's historic and anticipated growth also places significant pressure on its management and key personnel that work on implementing internal controls throughout Alithya. In addition, the increasing size and scope of Alithya's operations increases the possibility that a member of its personnel will engage in unlawful or fraudulent activity, breach its contractual obligations, or otherwise expose Alithya to unacceptable business risks, despite its efforts to train its personnel and maintain internal controls to prevent such instances. If Alithya does not continue to develop and implement the right processes and tools to manage its enterprise, its business, results of operations and financial condition could be adversely affected.

19.3 Risks Related to Alithya's Industry

19.3.1 Competition in the digital technology consulting services market

Competition in the digital technology consulting services market is intense. Alithya competes with local and international competitors, as well as customers' internal IT departments. There is also a growing number of smaller niche boutique digital technology consulting firms that have developed services similar to those offered by Alithya over the years and Alithya believes that competition will continue to be strong and may increase in the future, especially as there are relatively low barriers to enter the digital technology consulting services market.

While Alithya strives to remain competitive, Alithya's competitors may be better positioned to address technological changes or react more favorably to these changes, which could have a material adverse effect on Alithya's business. Alithya competes on the basis of a number of factors, many of which may be beyond its control. Existing or future competitors may develop or offer digital technology consulting services that provide significant technological, creative, performance, or other advantages over the services Alithya offers in addition to lower prices. Also, as Alithya expands its portfolio of services and solutions, it may face new competitors who may be able to leverage a larger installed customer base and their involvement beyond the services and solutions provided by Alithya may allow them to adopt more aggressive pricing policies and offer more attractive sales terms, which could cause Alithya to lose potential sales or to sell services and solutions at lower prices. Some of Alithya's competitors may also have longer operating histories and benefit from significantly greater financial, technical, marketing and managerial resources than Alithya. If Alithya fails to anticipate or react in an agile manner to known and unexpected moves by existing or new competitors or if competitors reduce their prices, Alithya could lose projects to such competitors. Any pricing pressure could also have a material adverse impact on Alithya's revenues and margins and limit its ability to provide competitive services. Alithya expects to continue to invest significant resources to develop and enhance its business offerings and leverage a high level of customer satisfaction, but there is no assurance it will be able to satisfy customer demands as they evolve and as competition continues to increase.

In addition, Alithya currently has no patented technology that would preclude or inhibit competitors from entering its digital technology consulting services market. Therefore, Alithya must rely on the skills of its personnel and the quality of its customer service. Also, as the costs to start a digital technology consulting services firm are relatively low and the general use of professionals located internationally at lower costs continues to increase, Alithya expects that it will continue to face additional competition from new entrants into the market in the future, international providers and larger integrators and that it is subject to the risk that its employees may leave and start competing businesses. Any one or more of these factors could have a material adverse impact on Alithya's business, financial condition and results of operations.

19.3.2 Reliance on highly-trained and experienced personnel

Alithya's success depends in large part on its ability to attract and retain qualified technical consultants, project management consultants, business analysts, and sales and marketing professionals of various levels of experience. The markets that Alithya serves are highly competitive and competition for skilled employees in the digital technology consulting industry is intense. The demand for qualified employees and inflation continues to be high, resulting in upward pressure on compensation. While Alithya's management believes its measures to attract and retain qualified employees are competitive, if such measures prove to be insufficient, Alithya may be unable to support its growth strategy and objectives or normal business operations, including completing existing projects or bidding on new projects, which could adversely affect its revenues. Alithya also faces talent-related challenges such as higher employee mobility, a re-evaluation of employee's relationship with their workplace and a highly competitive employee marketplace which may make it more difficult to recruit, attract and retain skilled personnel.

19.3.3 Failure to expand, develop and adapt services and solutions to meet customers' needs

The markets for technology, digital and outsourcing services are characterized by rapid technological change, evolving industry standards, continually declining costs of acquiring and maintaining IT infrastructure, changing customer preferences, and new services and solutions introductions. Alithya's future success and competitive advantage depends in part on its ability to develop and implement digital and other services and solutions that anticipate and respond to rapid and continuing changes in the markets in which it operates. Alithya must anticipate changes in customer demands in a timely or cost effective manner and, to do so, it must adapt its services and solutions and remain able to provide cost effective services and solutions. Offerings relating to digital, cloud and security services are examples of areas that are continually evolving, as well as changes and developments in artificial intelligence (including generative AI, as well as automation and machine learning). Although Alithya strives at developing digital and other new services and solutions addressing evolving technologies and customers' needs, there is no assurance that it will be successful in developing any such services and solutions, that it will be able to do it in a timely or cost-effective manner or that any such services and solutions it develops will be successful once offered in the marketplace. If Alithya does not keep pace and address the demands of the rapidly evolving technological environment and the needs of customers, including in the emerging field of AI, or fails to effectively leverage new technologies into its services and solutions, its ability to retain and attract customers and gain new business may be adversely affected, which could in turn have a material adverse effect on its business, financial condition and results of operations. Also, as Alithya expands its offerings of services and solutions, and as it expands such offerings, it may be exposed to operational, legal, regulatory, ethical, technological and other risks specific to such expanded services and solutions, which may result in additional pressure on its revenues, net earnings and resulting cash flow from operations.

19.3.4 Protecting intellectual property rights

Alithya's success depends in part on its ability to protect its proprietary methodologies, processes, know-how, techniques, tools and other intellectual property that are used to provide services. Alithya relies on a combination of trademarks, laws that protect intellectual property rights, regardless of whether such rights are registered, as well as contractual arrangements, such as confidentiality agreements, assignment of rights and license agreements, to protect its intellectual property rights. Existing laws that protect intellectual property rights, however, only provide Alithya limited protection and there is no assurance that contractual arrangements will be observed by customers and third parties. Third parties may directly or indirectly attempt to disclose, obtain or use Alithya's solutions or technologies. Others may also independently develop and obtain patents or copyrights for technologies that are similar or superior to Alithya's technologies and, should that happen, there is no assurance that Alithya's intellectual property protection measures would be sufficient to allow it to take action against such third parties, nor be successful in any litigation undertaken to protect its intellectual property rights. If Alithya is unsuccessful in any intellectual property litigation, it may be forced to do one or more of the following: (i) cease selling or using technology that incorporates the challenged intellectual property; (ii) obtain a license, which may not be available on reasonable terms or at all, to use the relevant technology; (iii) rebrand Alithya's services and solutions, which could result in a loss of brand recognition and require Alithya to devote additional resources to, among others, create, roll-out, advertise and market its new brands; (iv) configure services to avoid infringement; and (v) refund license fees or other payments that were previously received.

The protection of intellectual property rights and confidentiality in some jurisdictions in which Alithya operates may also not be as effective as in Canada, the U.S. or other jurisdictions with more developed intellectual property protection rights. In addition, Alithya may have to pay economic damages in the event of lost disputes or to prevent litigation relating to intellectual property rights, which could adversely affect its results of operations and financial condition. Furthermore, there is no assurance that competitors will not infringe Alithya's intellectual property rights, or that Alithya will have the necessary resources to fully protect its intellectual property rights. If Alithya attempts to enforce its intellectual property rights through litigation, there is no assurance that Alithya would be successful and such legal proceedings could result in substantial costs and diversion of resources and management attention.

Alithya's solutions may also incorporate and be dependent to a certain extent on the use and development of open source code. Such open source code is generally licensed by its authors or other third parties under open source licenses and is typically freely accessible, usable and modifiable. Pursuant to such open source licenses, Alithya may be subject to certain conditions, including requirements that it offers its proprietary software that incorporates the open source software for no cost, that it makes available source code for modifications or derivative works that is created based upon, incorporating or using the open source code, or that it licenses such modifications or derivative works under the terms of the particular open source license. If an author or other third party that uses or distributes such open source software were to allege that Alithya had not complied with the conditions of one or more of these licenses, Alithya could be required to incur significant legal expenses defending against such allegations, to pay significant damage awards, and to dispose of its solutions that contain or are dependent upon the open source code, all of which could disrupt the distribution and sale of some of Alithya's solutions. Litigation, if any, could be onerous, have a negative effect on Alithya's financial condition and results or operations or require it to devote additional research and development resources to implement any required changes to its solutions. Any requirement to disclose proprietary source code, terminate license rights or pay damages for breach of contract could have a material adverse effect on Alithya's business, financial condition and results of operations, and could help competitors develop products and services that are similar to or better than Alithya's. Although Alithya believes that it complies with its obligations under the licenses for open source code that it uses, it is possible that it may not be aware of all instances where open source code has been incorporated into its solutions or used in connection with its solutions.

19.3.5 Infringing on the intellectual property rights of others

When developing solutions and providing services for its customers, Alithya utilizes its own intellectual property, and may also enter into licensing agreements with third parties for the right to use patents, trademarks, copyrights, trade secrets and other intellectual property rights. Alithya may also develop intellectual property on its own or together with its customers when developing solutions and providing services for such customers. Although Alithya uses reasonable efforts to ensure that its services and offerings do not infringe on the intellectual property rights of others, third parties or even Alithya's customers may assert claims against Alithya. In addition, certain agreements to which Alithya is a party may contain indemnity clauses pursuant to which Alithya would be required to indemnify its customers against liability and damages arising from third-party claims of intellectual property right infringement as part of its service contracts with its customers and, in some instances, the amount of these indemnity claims could exceed the revenues Alithya generates under the contracts or the coverage provided by Alithya's insurance policies.

Intellectual property claims or litigation against Alithya could incur substantial costs, divert management's attention, harm Alithya's reputation, require Alithya to enter into additional licensing arrangements or even restrict Alithya from providing its services and solutions as it has in the past or as it intended to. Any limitation on Alithya's ability to offer or use solutions or services that utilize intellectual property rights that are the subject of a claim could cause Alithya to lose revenues or incur additional expenses to modify its solutions and services for future projects.

19.4 Risks Related to Subordinate Voting Shares and Liquidity

19.4.1 Limited voting rights

Alithya's Multiple Voting Shares are similar to its Subordinate Voting Shares except that each Multiple Voting Share has ten times the voting rights of each Subordinate Voting Share. As a result, holders of Multiple Voting Shares have a disproportionate level of control over matters submitted to Alithya shareholders for approval, which may reduce the ability of holders of Subordinate Voting Shares to influence corporate matters and, as a result, Alithya may take actions that they do not view as beneficial.

19.4.2 Market price of Subordinate Voting Shares

Alithya cannot predict the price of Subordinate Voting Shares. The stock market may experience significant price and volume fluctuations that are often unrelated or disproportionate to the operating performance of companies. These broad market and industry factors, together with other economical circumstances, may materially harm the market price of Alithya's Subordinate Voting Shares, regardless of Alithya's operating performance. In addition, the price of Alithya's Subordinate Voting Share may be dependent upon the valuations and recommendations of the analysts who cover Alithya's business, and if Alithya's results do not meet the analysts' forecasts and expectations, Alithya's share price could decline as a result of analysts lowering their valuations and recommendations. In the past, following periods of volatility in the market, securities class-action litigations have often been instituted against companies. Such litigations, if instituted against Alithya, could result in substantial costs and divert management's attention and resources.

19.4.3 Inability to service debt

Alithya uses its Credit Facility and other debt arrangements to fund its activities, including acquisitions. Accordingly, depending on its level of indebtedness, which may, from time to time, be substantial and involve significant interest payment requirements, Alithya may be required to dedicate an important part of its cash flow to make interest and capital payments on its debt. Alithya's ability to generate sufficient cash flow to service its debt depends upon future performance, which is subject to prevailing economic conditions as well as financial, competitive and other factors, many of which are outside of its control. There is no assurance that Alithya will be able to generate sufficient cash flow to meet its obligations under its outstanding debt. If Alithya is unable to do so, Alithya may be required to refinance, restructure or otherwise amend some or all of its obligations, sell assets, raise additional cash through issuances of Subordinate Voting Shares or securities convertible in Subordinate Voting Shares, or be forced to reduce or delay investments that are important to Alithya's growth, thereby placing it at a disadvantage compared to competitors that may have less debt or making it more vulnerable in a downturn in general economic conditions.

In addition, Alithya's Credit Facility and other debt arrangements contain financial and other covenants, including covenants that require that certain financial ratios and/or other financial or other covenants be maintained. If Alithya were to breach these covenants, it could be required to repay or refinance its existing debt obligations prior to their scheduled maturity and its ability to do so could be restricted or limited by prevailing economic conditions, available liquidity and other factors. Alithya's inability to service its debt or its inability to fulfill its financial or other covenants in its Credit Facility and other debt arrangements could have an adverse effect on Alithya's business, financial condition and results of operations.

Also, a significant portion of Alithya's debt bears interest at variable interest rates and is therefore subject to interest rate fluctuations. Although Alithya enters into derivative financial instruments to reduce its exposure to interest rate risks, there is no assurance that such instruments will be sufficient to adequately protect Alithya against this risk. If interest rates increase, debt service obligations would increase even though the amount borrowed would remain the same, and net earnings and cash flows would decrease accordingly, which could have an adverse effect on Alithya's business, financial condition and results of operations.

19.4.4 Raising additional capital and maintaining credit

Alithya's future growth is contingent on the execution of its business strategy, which, in turn, is dependent on its ability to grow the business organically as well as through acquisitions. In the event Alithya would need to fund any currently unidentified or unplanned future acquisitions or other growth opportunities, Alithya may have to raise additional capital through public and private equity offerings, debt financings or a combination of both, and there can be no assurance that such funding will be available in amounts and on terms acceptable to Alithya. Alithya's ability to raise the required funding depends on the capacity of the capital markets to meet Alithya's equity and/or debt financing needs in a timely fashion and on the basis of interest rates and/or share prices that are reasonable in the context of Alithya's commercial objectives. Interest rate fluctuations, financial market volatility, including volatility in Alithya's share price, credit market disruptions and the capacity of Alithya's current lenders to meet Alithya's additional liquidity requirements are all factors that may have a material adverse effect on any acquisitions or growth activities that Alithya may, in the future, identify or plan. If Alithya is unable to obtain necessary funding, it may be unable to achieve its growth objectives. Alithya's financial condition and results of operations are also contingent on its ability to maintain the credit it requires. Should Alithya have to obtain additional credit or renew its outstanding credit, there is no assurance that Alithya will be able to obtain such additional credit or renew its outstanding credit upon the same, or more advantageous, terms.

The incurrence of additional indebtedness would result in increased payment obligations and could involve additional or increased financial and other covenants, such as limitations on Alithya's ability to incur additional debt and other operating restrictions that could adversely impact its ability to conduct its business.

19.4.5 Dilution

When acquiring a new business, by way of share purchase or asset purchase, Alithya may consider paying the purchase price, in part or in whole, by way of issuance of Subordinate Voting Shares or securities convertible into Subordinate Voting Shares. Alithya may also, independent of any acquisition process, decide to seek the completion of a public or private financing involving the issuance of Subordinate Voting Shares or securities convertible into Subordinate Voting Shares to raise capital. Any issuance of additional Subordinate Voting Shares will result in dilution of the ownership interests of Alithya's shareholders as well as dilution in earnings per share. The terms of any such financing may also include liquidation or other preference rights that could adversely affect the rights of Alithya's shareholders. Alithya cannot predict the size of future issuances nor the effect that such issuances may have on the market price of the Subordinate Voting Shares. Issuances of a substantial number of additional Subordinate Voting Shares (or securities convertible into Subordinate Voting Shares), or the perception that such issuances could occur, could also adversely affect the prevailing market price of the Subordinate Voting Shares.

19.4.6 Active market

If an active market for Alithya's Subordinate Voting Shares is not sustained, holders of Subordinate Voting Shares may be unable to sell their investments on satisfactory terms. Declines in the value of Subordinate Voting Shares may also adversely affect the liquidity of the market for Subordinate Voting Shares. Factors unrelated to Alithya's performance may have an effect on the price and liquidity of Subordinate Voting Shares including the extent of analyst coverage of Alithya, lower trading volume and general market interest in Subordinate Voting Shares, the size of Alithya's public float and any event resulting in a delisting of the Subordinate Voting Shares from the TSX.

19.4.7 Dividends

Alithya does not expect to pay dividends in the immediate future and anticipates that it will retain all earnings, if any, to support its operations. Any future determination as to the payment of dividends will, subject to Canadian legal requirements and Alithya's articles of incorporation, be at the sole discretion of Alithya's Board and will depend on Alithya's financial condition, results of operations, capital requirements and other factors the Board deems relevant. Holders of Subordinate Voting Shares must therefore rely on potential increases in the trading price of their shares for returns on their investment in the foreseeable future.

19.4.8 Foreign private issuer pursuant to U.S. securities laws and rules

Alithya is a “foreign private issuer” as such term is defined in Rule 405 under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended and, as a result, although its Subordinate Voting Shares are registered with the SEC, it is not subject to the same requirements that are imposed upon U.S. domestic issuers. Under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the “Exchange Act”), Alithya is indeed exempt from certain rules and regulations under U.S. securities laws and, as such, its reporting obligations are, in certain respects, less detailed and less frequent than those of U.S. domestic reporting issuers. As a result, Alithya does not file the same reports as U.S. domestic reporting issuers file with the U.S. Securities Exchange Commission (“SEC”). Instead, it is required to file or furnish to the SEC the continuous disclosure documents that it is required to file in Canada under Canadian securities laws. In addition, Alithya’s officers, directors and principal shareholders are exempt from the reporting requirements set forth under Section 16 of the Exchange Act.

Also, although it is Alithya’s current intention to deregister its Subordinate Voting Shares from the SEC, there is no assurance as to if and when it will meet the eligibility requirements to do so in the near future. If and once deregistered, it will, however, no longer be required to file or furnish documents with the SEC in accordance with U.S. securities regulations. U.S. shareholders would therefore have to rely solely on documents filed with Canadian securities regulators and which would be prepared in accordance with Canadian securities regulations.

19.4.9 Enforcement of civil liabilities under U.S. securities laws and rules

Alithya is governed by the Business Corporations Act (Quebec), its registered office is located in Canada, the majority of its directors and officers are based principally in Canada, and a substantial portion of its assets are located outside of the U.S. It may therefore be difficult for investors who reside in the U.S. to enforce court judgments predicated upon civil liability provisions of U.S. federal securities laws against Alithya or any such persons. There is also substantial doubt regarding whether an action could be brought in Canada in the first instance predicated solely upon U.S. federal securities laws. Canadian courts may refuse to hear a claim based on an alleged violation of U.S. securities laws against Alithya or such persons on the grounds that Canada is not the most appropriate forum in which to bring such a claim. Even if a Canadian court agrees to hear a claim, it may determine that Canadian law and not U.S. law is applicable to the claim.

20. Management’s Evaluation of Disclosure Controls and Procedures and Internal Control over Financial Reporting

Management’s Report on Disclosure Controls and Procedures

Management is responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate disclosure controls and procedures (“DC&P”) which are designed to provide reasonable assurance that the material information relating to the Company is made known to the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer by others, particularly during the period in which annual and interim filings are prepared, and that information required to be disclosed by the Company in its annual, interim filings or other reports filed or submitted by the Company under Canadian and U.S. securities laws is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified under those laws and the related rules. The effectiveness of these DC&P, as defined under National Instrument 52-109 – Issuers’ annual and interim filings (“NI 52-109”) adopted by Canadian securities regulators and in Rule 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) under the U.S. Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, was evaluated under the supervision of and with the participation of the Company's Chief Executive Officer and Interim Chief Financial Officer as at the end of the Company's most recently completed financial year ended March 31, 2025. Based on such evaluation, the Chief Executive Officer and Interim Chief Financial Officer concluded that the Company's DC&P were not effective as of March 31, 2025 due to the material weakness in internal control over financial reporting described below.

Management's Report on Internal Control over Financial Reporting

Management is also responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate internal control over financial reporting ("ICFR"), as defined under NI 52-109 adopted by Canadian securities regulators and in Rule 13a-15(f) and 15d-15(f) under the U.S. Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. The Company's ICFR are designed under the supervision of the Company's Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, and effected by management and other key employees, to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with IFRS as issued by the IASB. The effectiveness of the Company's ICFR was evaluated under the supervision of and with the participation of the Company's Chief Executive Officer and Interim Chief Financial Officer as at the end of the Company's most recently completed financial year ended March 31, 2025 based on the criteria established in Internal Control – Integrated Framework (2013) issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission (COSO). Based on such evaluation, the Chief Executive Officer and Interim Chief Financial Officer concluded that the Company's ICFR was not effective as of March 31, 2025 due to the material weakness described below.

A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in ICFR, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Company's annual or interim financial statements will not be prevented or detected on a timely basis.

In connection with the Company's evaluation of ICFR, management identified a material weakness related to the control activities in its revenue processes for fixed-fee and time and material arrangements applying the input method. Notwithstanding the existence of a material weakness, management has concluded that the Company's annual audited consolidated financial statements for the year ended March 31, 2025 present fairly, in all material respects, the Company's financial position, results of operations, changes in equity and cash flows in accordance with IFRS, and confirms that this material weakness did not result in (i) any material adjustments to the Company's annual audited consolidated financial statements for the year ended March 31, 2025 and (ii) there were no changes to previously released financial results. However, because the material weakness creates a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement to our financial statements would not be prevented or detected on a timely basis, it was concluded that as of March 31, 2025, the Company's ICFR was not effective.

Status on Management's Remediation Plan

As previously reported under the heading "Management's Evaluation of Disclosure Controls and Procedures and Internal Control over Financial Reporting" in our MD&A for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2024, in connection with our assessment of the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting as of March 31, 2024, we determined a material weakness existed related to the control activities in the Company's revenue processes.

During the fiscal year 2025, we prioritized training to control operators and fostered continuous improvement in our documentary evidence protocols. While there have been significant improvements throughout the fiscal year, our management is continuing to focus on remediation efforts such as to further improve control activities over the validation and documentation, at the required level of precision, of key assumptions applied in the expected labour cost to complete estimates used in the measure of progress to recognize revenues under fixed-fee and time and material arrangements applying the input method.

Management, with the oversight of the Audit and Risk Management Committee, continues to be committed to a strong internal control environment and intends to implement further remediation measures designed to ensure that the deficiencies in the Company's ICFR that resulted in a material weakness are remediated. Although management expects that the remediation of deficiencies in key controls related to its revenue processes for fixed-fee and time and material arrangements applying the input method which resulted in the occurrence of a material weakness will be completed during the year ending March 31, 2026, there is no assurance as to when such remediation will be completed, nor if the remediation measures put in place will be effective to remediate such deficiencies. The material weakness will also not be considered fully remediated until the applicable internal controls operate for a sufficient period of time and management has concluded, through testing, that these internal controls are operating effectively.

Changes in Internal Control over Financial Reporting

Other than the impacts of the ongoing remediation plan described above, there have been no changes in the Company's ICFR during the year ended March 31, 2025, that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, the Company's ICFR.

Auditor's Report on Internal Control over Financial Reporting

The effectiveness of ICFR as of March 31, 2025 has been audited by KPMG LLP, ("KPMG"), the Company's independent registered public accounting firm. In view of the above, KPMG has expressed an adverse opinion on the Company's ICFR as of March 31, 2025.

Limitations on Effectiveness of Disclosure Controls and Procedures and Internal Control over Financial Reporting

The Company's management recognizes that any DC&P and ICFR, no matter how well designed and operated, can provide only reasonable assurance of achieving their objectives. Because of their inherent limitations, DC&P and ICFR may not prevent or detect all errors or misstatements on a timely basis.
